Oldest store to close

After nearly 80 years of customer service, Bunte's Shoe Store, 1941 Delmar Ave., will close its doors for the last time on Nov. 27.

Owned and operated by Arthur and William Bunte, the business was founded by their father, A. F. Bunte Sr., in January 1897.

The original location of the store was in the 1886 block of E Street (now Edison Avenue). He had been associated with his brother who opened a similar store in Venice in 1890.

In 1911 this association was dissolved and A. F. Bunte Sr. took over the entire business. During its first year, the Granite City store flourished and quickly outgrew its small quarters and in December of 1897 the business was moved to 18th and D Street (now Delmar Avenue). This was the heart of the business district at the time. In August 1915 the store moved into a new building in the 1900 block of Delmar Avenue which is its present location. It was opposite the then new Granite City post office in what is now Civic Park.

Arthur and William became full partners in the business with their father on Jan. 2, 1937, and have operated the store since that time. Their father died in February 1953 at the age of 81.

The shoe store is the oldest business in Granite City with the city being incorporated just one year prior to its opening.

Testimony on sewers given; await decision

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

A hearing on the merits of a suit filed to block sanitary sewers for Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships was conducted Tuesday and yesterday in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville.

No final decision on the case is expected for several weeks.

Testimony and legal arguments on whether general obligation bonds for the project should be sold, or whether a permanent injunction halting sale of the bonds should be issued, were heard by Circuit Judge E. Harold Wineland during the two-day hearing.

Judge Wineland, who was brought in from the Fourth Judicial Circuit in Flora to avoid delay or political entanglements in the decision, is to decide the case on its legal merits, based on the actions taken by the county and the arguments of those who filed suit to halt the project.

There is no jury. The county—which is the defendant in the case—won an initial argument early in Tuesday's hearing as Harry E. Hartman, the county special sewer committee attorney, retained the right to defend the county in the case.

M. Joseph Hill, attorney for a group of residents attempting to halt the project, cited a state law which gives the county state's attorney the duty to defend all suits against the county.

Don Smith, assistant state's attorney in charge of civil matters for State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, testified that the state's attorney's office declined to participate in the sanitary sewer matter, since the county is only the sponsoring agent for the program.

Demos step up campaign pace

With the Nov. 2 general election less than three weeks away, Democratic campaign activities will pick up sharply in the Quad-City area this week and next in a series of rallies and meetings at which state, and national level candidates, will make appearances.

Plans were announced yesterday for an Oct. 30 rally at the Nameoki Village Shopping Center which Democratic leaders say is expected to be the biggest campaign rally in this area in recent history. That rally will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. in the old W. T. Grant store building.

Quad-City and Madison County Democrats will take part Saturday in a rally at St. Clair Square, Fairview Heights, where Sen. Walter Mondale, candidate for vice-president, will speak shortly after noon.

Madison County Democratic Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City said that a Carter-Mondale Motorcade Committee had been formed in the Quad-City area.

He said that the committee is made up of Mayor Mike Sasyk and Christ Ciolek of Madison, Mayor Mike Ebersold of Venice, State Representative Sam Wolf, Mayor Paul Spindler and Bill Harrison of Granite

City and Raymond Gaudette of Nameoki Township.

In making the announcement, Hagnauer said, "The committee was formed to organize part of the large Madison County motorcade that will be going to St. Clair Square to hear Sen. Walter Mondale, Democratic candidate for vice-president, on Saturday, Oct. 16. The Like some dough? Here's an opportunity

Introductory classes in bread baking will be offered at SIUE beginning Oct. 19. Classes will be held Tuesdays from 7 until 10 p.m. in the Tosovsky Center at the northeast edge of the campus, just off Illinois Route 157.

Registration for the four-week course is $10. Students will be expected to furnish all their baking equipment and supplies. Students will learn how to bake a different type of bread each week, Dr. Vasil Vasiloff, instructor for the course, said. "It is an associate professor in the School of Dental Medicine. "It will be a participation course," Dr. Vasiloff said. "While the dough rises, we will have our lecture periods," he explained.

A basic recipe of white bread will be baked during the first meeting. Rye bread in the second class meeting, and whole-wheat bread in the third. Students will have a choice of trying their hands at either oatmeal or a seasoned bread on the final evening.

If enough persons are interested, a more advanced baking class will be offered later. Instruction in sour dough bread baking and strudel would be included.

TEMPORARY OCCUPANCY PERMIT is granted to Count Dracula Jr., center, by John Dutko, right, building inspector for the city of Madison in compliance with a city ordinance. Dracula Jr. and his assortment of Halloween creatures take up temporary residence in the "Haunted Castle," 1316 Madison Ave., for a week just prior to Oct. 31, and will welcome visitors between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. beginning Sunday, Oct. 24, through Halloween night. Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, left, was present to greet the Count who "flew in" early to get the official permit so that Illinois Power would turn on the lights in his "Castle." A couple of the Count's friends are looking on. Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110, will for the fifth year play host to the royal visitor from Transylvania.

Pioneer families were big

(82nd of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)

James Gillham first beheld Illinois in 1794 and he conceived so favorable an opinion of the area that he made it his home in 1797, first settling in the American Bottom opposite St. Louis.

A century-old history of Madison County relates that he moved to this particular county at the turn of the century. Congress, in 1815, gave to Gillham's wife 160 acres of land at the head of Long Lake, in township four, range nine, in testimony of the hardship and sufferings she endured during her captivity among the Indians.

The children of James Gillham were Samuel, Isaac, Jacob, Clemons, James, Harvey, David M., Polly, Sally and Nancy.

Samuel settled in section fifteen of township four, range nine; and the other sons, Isaac, Jacob, Clemons, James, Harvey and David M., all made homes for themselves in section four of the same township and range. The descendants of the two youngest daughters resided in the State of Mississippi, a century ago.

James Gillham wrote to his brothers in South Carolina of the advantages of the Illinois country, and his brother, Thomas, left South Carolina in the fall of the year 1798.

He reached the end of his journey on the closing day of the eighteenth century — thus ready to begin the new century.

LUCKY 13TH birthday for Scott J. Ashal, 4069 Vesel Ave., who caught this four-pound channel catfish at his family's Tomahawk Lakes property at Millersburg. It wasn't as lucky for his father R. F. "Hector" Ashal, who waded into the mud and water, clothes and all, in an unsuccessful effort to retrieve his son's birthday present, a new rod and reel, after a fish grabbed it at 6:30 a.m. Ashal and a friend, Charles Hall, later located the fishing gear and it was put to good use by Scott.

Swine flu shots are resumed

Illinois health officials Wednesday afternoon lifted their day-old suspension of swine flu shots, but indicated no vaccine availability in this area until next month.

Mortality rates are said to be within normal expectations due to the advanced age of many of those who have been receiving anti-influenza shots.

Acknowledging at least 33 deaths in 13 states of persons who had been vaccinated, federal and state authorities say they have found no evidence that the swine flu vaccine was responsible. Some statewide suspensions remained in effect, however.

motorcade will be leaving from Nameoki Village Shopping Center at 10 a.m. Mondale will speak at noon at the St. Clair Square Shopping Mall.

"The appearance by Senator Mondale," said Hagnauer, "will be a major highlight of the Democratic election drive in the area."

William Rekowski, of Collinsville, county coordinator, added, "The senator's visit to the Madison-St. Clair area is a solid indication of the importance which the staff of the Democratic national campaign committee places upon the two counties." Rekowski noted that the visit area will be Senator Mondale's first public appearance after his Friday night debate with the opposition candidate.

Chairman Hagnauer said he expects a large and enthusiastic turnout. He stated his belief that the Madison and St. Clair counties appearance may be the turning point in what is expected to be a very close election in November.

Rekowski added that there would be three caravans leaving from Madison County on Saturday to attend the Mondale appearance. One motorcade will be leaving from the Eastgate Plaza Shopping Center in East Alton at 9 a.m.; a second motorcade leaving from Nameoki Village Shopping Center in Granite City, at 10 a.m.; and a third motorcade to depart from the Orchard Shopping Center in Collinsville at 10:30 a.m. for arrival scheduled to coincide with the speaking time announced for Senator Mondale at 12 noon at the mall at St. Clair Square in Fairview Heights.

The annual John F. Kennedy dinner dance sponsored by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee will be held Sunday in the Meridian Hall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The event will begin at 4:30 p.m. with a cocktail period, with dinner to be served at 6 p.m.

Congressman Melvin Price and other legislators will be in attendance with gubernatorial Candidate Michael Howlett scheduled as the principal speaker.

Others invited and expected to be in attendance are Alan Dixon, candidate for secretary of state; Neil Hartigan, candidate for and presently lt. governor; Michael Bakalis, candidate for comptroller; and Cecil Parise, candidate for attorney general. Governor Walker has also been invited and it is hoped that he will be able to be present, according to Nelson Hagnauer, county committee chairman.

Michael J. Howlett, candidate for governor, is to be the speaker Monday at 12:30 p.m. luncheon at the Long Lake Fire Hall, attended by Democratic precinct committeewomen of Madison County.

Marge McPherson, chairman of the organization, said from 150 to 200 persons including committeewomen and guests, are expected to attend. She said other state candidates have been invited to attend. State Sen. Cecil A. Parise, president of the Illinois State Senate and candidate for attorney general, will speak at the Legislation Night dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women Wednesday, Oct. 20.

The event will be held in Trinity Hall, Madison, with dinner served at 6:30 p.m. The Oct. 30 rally at the Nameoki Shopping Center will be sponsored by the Granite City Democratic Club.

in the new western world.

Two other brothers, John and William, came to Illinois in the year 1802, both settling within the boundaries of Madison County, and another brother, Isaac, followed a couple of years afterward.

The oldest son of Thomas Gillham was Isiah Gillham, sheriff of Madison county, from 1812 to 1818.

He first settled on a farm adjoining that of Colonel Samuel Judy, and in the spring of 1817 moved to the bank of the Mississippi, nearly opposite the mouth of the Missouri.

Another son, William, settled on a farm in the Ridge prairie five miles east of Edwardsville.

One of the daughters, Violet, married Joshua Vaughn, and settled in the American Bottom; and another, Patsy, became the wife of Peter Hubbard and moved to Bond county.

William Gillham, on coming to Illinois, settled in the Six Mile Prairie as early as 1820 or 1822; he moved to Jersey County.

His sons were John D., William and Ezekiel.

William became a resident of Scott County, and the two others lived in Jersey County.

One of the daughters, Agnes, married John G. Lofon, one of the early judges of the court of common pleas of Madison County.

Sally married a Mr. Waddle and subsequently a Mr. Jarvis. Jane became the wife of William Davidson.

Peggy became the wife of Benjamin Steadman, and Polly of Frank Kirkpatrick.

John Gillham arrived in Madison County on June 10, 1802, and first settled in section nineteen, township four, range eight, on the west bank of Cahokia Creek, near the farms of Col. Samuel Judy and William Bolin Whiteside.

Afterward he moved to a farm in section one, township four, range nine, where he lived till his death in the year 1832.

His oldest daughter, Margaret, was married in South Carolina to Samuel Brown, who settled in section four, township four, range nine, and in 1830 moved to Scott County.

John, his next daughter, was likewise married in South Carolina, to Isiah Dunnagan, who made the first improvement in township five, range eight.

James, the oldest son, married Polly Good, under the authority of the first marriage.

Ryderus C., another son, settled near his brother James. The other children were Thomas, Sarah, Charles, Elizabeth, Susannah, Polly, John and William.

Sarah became the wife of Daniel Brown, and settled on the Cahokia, in section eighteen, township four, range eight.

Susannah married William Ramsey, and moved to Scott County. Polly married Thomas Cox, and settled in section thirty-six, township five, range nine.

John settled where Wanda

Station was established. He was a pioneer Methodist preacher and died in 1833.

William was born in Tennessee in 1802, on the journey from South Carolina to Illinois. His home was in section thirty-six, of township five, range nine. He was also a Methodist minister, and died of cholera in 1853.

Thompson wants revised bail, sentence procedure

A criminal justice plan, designed to "remedy long-standing inadequacies in Illinois' criminal justice system," was proposed by James R. Thompson, Republican candidate for governor, today.

In the 13th major point paper of his campaign, Thompson called for changing aspects of the state's criminal justice system to "make it more rational and consistent for all concerned."

Among his proposals, Thompson called for reform of bail, corrections and sentencing procedures.

He also proposed programs for dealing with juvenile and habitual offenders while making recommendations to limit delays in trials.

The former United States attorney called for the adoption of a statewide grand jury system with limited jurisdiction, a statewide public defender program and the merit selection of judges.

Speaking at news conferences in Springfield, Chicago and Rockford, the former federal prosecutor said that a criminal justice system "must insure that those accused of crime receive a fair and impartial trial."

Thompson said that the system "must also operate in a swift and certain manner to deter crime. But, most importantly, it must protect people."

The former law professor said that the system for dealing with criminals has failed "when law-abiding citizens are imprisoned in their own homes because they are terrified to walk the streets, when hard-working people are afraid to cash their weekly paychecks and when senior citizens must dread going to the grocery store."

Although he has spent 16 years of his professional career in law enforcement, Thompson said that he has not conducted what commonly is known as a "law and order" campaign.

"Political campaigns based upon 'law and order' have done nothing to stem the rising crime rate," Thompson said.

He said he believes it is the duty of a governor "to provide the leadership necessary to make our criminal justice system work."

Levee appointments soon

Dissolution of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District as it has operated for the past 69 years will become a step closer with the appointment of two Madison County members of a new five-man levee board next week.

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board, told the Press-Record today that he intends to appoint the two Madison County levee board members during the County Board meeting Wednesday, Oct. 20.

Three other members of the new levee district board of commissioners are to be appointed by Victor Canty, chairman of the St. Clair County Board, on Oct. 24. Appointments by the two County Board chairmen are subject to confirmation by the County Board members.

The new board will take office on Monday, Dec. 6, replacing the present levee board under state legislation enacted in 1974. That law dissolves the old levee district and creates a new one administered by appointed commissioners.

Since inception of the levee district in 1907, district voters have elected the five members of its board of trustees, with two chosen from Madison County and three from St. Clair County. The majority of three members is given by law to the county having the highest assessed valuation.

Under the new legislation, Hagnauer must appoint one Democrat and one Republican to the new district board, while Canty must name two Democrats and one Republican from St. Clair County.

The appointive system of naming levee board members and creating the new district, provided by the 1974 legislation, was confirmed by a referendum within the area of the levee district in November 1974.

The levee district includes Granite City, Nameoki, Venice townships and a part of Chouteau Township in Madison County, and East St. Louis, Centerville, Canteen and Sittes Township in St. Clair County.

clues three members, William "Mike" Ebersoldt of Venice, Russell Robinson of Granite City and Jack Scoville of National City. Scoville is board president. The other two members of the board elected in 1972 included Charles Meyers and Romel Wilson, both of East St. Louis. Wilson died in 1975 and Meyers died this year.

Hagnauer declined to disclose whom he is considering as appointees to the new levee board, but said he has had two appointments.

Reports in political circles today said that Hagnauer is expected to give the Democratic appointment to Robinson, while leaning strongly to William Nichols of Layton Road as the potential Republican appointee.

Ebersoldt, who also is mayor of Venice, is known to have been seeking the appointment and is reported to have met with Hagnauer on the matter last week.

Arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Under the law governing the new agency, the board of commissioners must hire a qualified engineer to administer the district.

The takeover by a new board in December will mark the end of one of the most controversial taxing agencies in this region. The levee district has been in financial trouble for many years, but in recent months its financial picture Ebersoldt said recently that the district soon would be "in the black" for the first time in many years.

Under the law governing the new agency, the board of commissioners must hire a qualified engineer to administer the district.

Nameoki seeks grant for recreational site

A request for $6,000 in Community Development funds to purchase land has been made, Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell announced at the Nameoki Town Board meeting Tuesday.

Two tracts of land in the State Park area are proposed for recreational facilities, including ball fields.

A question was raised on buying the State Park police car insurance from federal revenue sharing funds. The auditors were advised by legal counsel that this could not be done.

It was reported that seven members of the State Park police are attending school. Whitsell reported that Carl H. Runge, township attorney, had advised that the Dobrey Slough ditch across a section of property will not become a natural water course even after several years, and should the owners want to develop the land, the ditch could be moved. Whitsell reported that he had written the Interurban Water Co. and requested a deposit agreement for installation of water mains and fire hydrants in the Cloverleaf section.

A court ruling involving the Parkview subdivision drainage problem was questioned by Supervisor Whitsell who said he has contacted the Illinois Department of Public Health for assistance.

Bills approved were: Town fund, $3,169; Revenue Sharing, $1,707; Road & Bridge, $1,722; Hard Road, $2,693; and General Assistance, $2,693.

Highway deaths show decline

Provisional figures released by Dwight E. Pitman, superintendent, Illinois State Police, indicate that during this year to date, 1,509 persons died on Illinois highways due to traffic accidents.

This is a decrease of 30 over the same period last year.

Although statistics show a decrease of 30 statewide deaths, rural fatalities show an increase of 62 over last year, for a total of 913 rural fatalities.

These figures indicate that over 50 percent of all fatalities occur in rural areas.

"If we are to reduce the number of accidents, we must remain alert and adjust our speed for all driving conditions. Don't let a decrease in traffic conditions lead you into an accident," Superintendent Pitman said.

Crime Blocker is Rotary emphasis

Emphasis on the Crime Blocker program continued at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Madison-Venice Rotary club in the Madison Recreation Center.

Rotarian Al Hudzik was program chairman. A discussion was held on home burglaries by Chief of Police Frank Dutko and Detective Tom Voloskie, both of the Madison Police Department.

A movie, "Crime in the Home," depicting ways to prevent house burglaries, was shown to the Rotarians.

The Crime Blocker program is a citizen action program helping the police keep down the crime rate by having numerous people in a neighborhood trained in how to properly report a crime and what to look for.

Emphasis on training and recruiting Crime Blockers will be made during the month of November, according to Rotary President W. F. "Mick" Strange. The month of December is traditionally the highest month in the year for house burglaries due to the Christmas season, according to Chief Dutko.

Assembly faces taxing situation

By RAY SERATTI

SPRINGFIELD — The General Assembly has provided additional funds for public schools and opponents to the plan pointed to one possible hike in state taxes.

The opponents could very well be right. They maintained money was being allocated even before it got to the state's treasury. Again they could be right.

A majority of the opposition to the plan came from Republicans. A host of them were from the northeast section of the state. One in recent years has this area of the state begun feeling the pinch in the local taxes which are used to help fund public schools.

In general, the Democrats supported the plan for granting the additional funds.

But a close look at the entire game now that the General Assembly has gone home might point to a very interesting situation.

Republicans throughout the entire special session were buoyed by reports from polls that the GOP gubernatorial candidate James R. Thompson leading the Democratic gubernatorial hopeful of State Michael J. Howlett.

Suppose the polls are correct and this is reflected on Nov. 2 with a Thompson victory.

With less than a month to go before election day a big cloud of uncertainty hangs over the Illinois political scene.

Every national and governor election develops its own unique character and this one is no exception. Indeed, there are those who believe that the bi-centennial 1976 will go down in history as one of the most interesting elections of all time.

It could well rank with 1948 when President Harry Truman scored that historic upset and 1960 when John F. Kennedy edged out Richard M. Nixon to become the nation's first Catholic president.

In both instances Illinois played key roles. In 1948 carrying this state by 35,612 votes and Kennedy by 8,858.

This campaign already has been a thing in common with 1948 and 1960. This is a deep distrust among professional politicians of the results of published polls.

Most polls taken for the professionals to help guide their own strategy, show a remarkably high percentage of undecided voters.

This is so in the presidential race and, in any event, the margins separating President Ford and Democrat Jimmy Carter are so slight as to make the polls meaningless.

There is also growing suspicion of the polls in the governor's race, most of which show Republican James R. Thompson holding an insurmountable lead over Democrat Michael J. Howlett.

But there is a substantial undecided vote showing up in this race also. Some Howlett strategists concede Thompson a current 3 to 4 point edge in traditional Downstate areas, with Cook County and the so-called collar counties not included. But they say the tide is beginning to turn.

Much of the current skepticism concerning polls stems from the fact that some are merely random samplings, often by telephone, and are not limited to persons who are registered and will actually vote on Nov. 2.

Some professional political pollsters contend that any poll that is not confined to the electorate is worthless. This factor could leave some Illinois polls high and dry on election day.

There is one key factor in this state that cannot be measured scientifically by any poll. It is the element of organization.

In Illinois it is the Democrats who are highly organized. Everyone is familiar

If the state is in the financial condition that Comptroller George Lindberg says it is, there could be some financial clouds on Illinois' horizon.

The dispelling of those clouds is going to be the major task no matter who wins in the Nov. 2 elections. If the predictions of the possible tax hikes are true more problems could be in the offing.

First off, the mood of the taxpayers just isn't all that good. And, it is going to be tough to get a legislator to handle that type of legislation considering it has been only about five years ago that the state income tax went into operation and a bad taste still remains.

This is true despite the fact that when it went into operation the state was in a very precarious financial situation. Students of government say the income tax moved the state away from that situation. The state income tax came under Richard B. Ogilvie.

Whether or not it is Thompson or Howlett as the ultimate winner on Nov. 2 the financial situation of the state will supersede everything else.

If tax hikes are to be avoided, there will have to be drastic cuts in state services. Here is another tough situation. Just where will those cuts be made? Sometimes proposed cuts in certain areas of services can cause just as many headaches as talk of tax increases.

Could cuts be made in the area of public welfare, higher education or should they be across the board in all areas of state government?

Underlying all of this is the fact that the next term will only be a two year term. This is because in 1978 Illinois will begin electing its state officers in years when there will not be any presidential elections.

So anything that has to be done will be done in the first year of the two year term. This might prove to be the undoing of the governor. He will have to open the trunk as fast if the drastic changes are not popular. He will not have the usual four years to rebuild.

A tax tightrope is shaping up. It definitely is going to be interesting next year.

die-level violators — persons dealing in quantities of an ounce or more of such drugs as heroin, cocaine or marijuana or more units of amphetamines, barbiturates or hallucinogens.

The FBI is particularly suited for investigation of these individuals because, usually, these persons deal in several counties and city or county police agencies have trouble keeping track of and then investigating them.

The middle-level violators are generally well insulated from detection by dealers of lesser stature.

The capabilities for commitment of man-hours, availability of undercover agents and availability of funds for purchase of sizable quantities of evidence all suggest the use of the FBI with state-wide arrest power and funding.

In addition, the FBI assists local law enforcement agencies in developing regional enforcement groups to deal with regional problems.

Here the FBI works to protect against diversion of medicinal drugs into illegal channels of distribution.

Physicians, dentists, pharmacists, nurses, drug manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers fall under the scrutiny of the FBI as registered distributors or dispensers under the Controlled Substances Act.

While the FBI involves itself in investigations of the broad range of organized criminal activity, the primary concentration of resources here is on large scale redistribution of stolen goods and financial crimes.

These two areas, the FBI believes, offer the greatest possibility of significant impact on existing organized crime problems.

Also, various gambling investigations are undertaken, often as cooperative efforts with local and federal authorities.

This program focuses on cases of "white collar" crime, a rapidly growing field.

These cases are often solved only by highly complex long-term investigations of large scale financial manipulations, fraud, criminal conspiracies and criminal infiltration of legitimate business enterprises.

IBI efforts in this program are directed at the establishment of an effective licensing system to prevent inappropriate individuals from participating in Illinois racing and at the prevention of attempts to fix races.

Investigations range from screening license applications to criminal violations related to race fixing.

The manifestation of criminal activity, especially the types which the IBI focuses on, is often subtle and closely related to legitimate enterprise.

Strong and close patterns of criminal association have developed which foster all types of profitable crime.

The intelligence division supports tactical operations by identifying the persons, businesses and organizations involved in criminal activity.

Through analysis on the illicit activities of crime principals, the IBI seeks to identify both the changing patterns of criminal activity and opportunities for effective law enforcement action.

Investigation bureau active in 6 missions

In 1970, the state General Assembly responded to pleas for help from hard-pressed local police departments and formed the Illinois Bureau of Investigation.

The IBI was created because of the need and inability of municipal and county police departments to maintain a full-time staff of investigators and undercover agents to combat organized crime and narcotics.

According to an IBI brochure, the agency has six primary missions:

In the agency's most widely known investigative activity, it was early determined that the IBI's limited manpower could be put to best use if its targets were so-called midlevel violators — persons dealing in quantities of an ounce or more of such drugs as heroin, cocaine or marijuana or more units of amphetamines, barbiturates or hallucinogens.

The IBI is particularly suited for investigation of these individuals because, usually, these persons deal in several counties and city or county police agencies have trouble keeping track of and then investigating them.

That in itself, they feel, will block any homebreast comeback by Howlett in the governor's race.

It would be an immense election night surprise if Ford should win in Illinois and Howlett be elected governor.

Few in politics at this stage see it coming out that way. But there have been surprises before.

Nab 3 on thefts from 2 vehicles

Charges are to be filed today against two young men and a woman and another young man is being sought in connection with thefts from two vehicles early today.

Steve Wright, 2408 Angela Drive, said he and his brother, Gary, saw a group of people around their autos at about 3:15 a.m. today and went outside with a shotgun to investigate.

They held two youths at gunpoint until Granite City police and Madison County sheriff's deputies arrived.

Officers questioned the two and a young woman in a nearby car who said she was with the two being held.

Tape recordings and a plastic skull which allegedly had been taken from Steve Wright's auto were seen near the car.

Consent to open the trunk was obtained and a combination stereo and radio unit was found, also allegedly taken from Wright's auto.

Other items in the trunk, including a pair of field glasses and some tools, were also allegedly taken earlier today from the motor home of Everett Wortham, 4100 Maryville Road, parked in his fenced-in yard.

A window was forced open to gain entry to the motor home. The case for the field glasses had Wortham's name on it.

He allegedly was seen driving at a high rate of speed in a Ford pickup truck near 25th Street and Grand Avenue and was stopped by police on Circle Drive.

Police alleged they found six cans of beer inside the truck with two of them open.

Since God isn't a far-off ideal, but divine Love, always here — "a very present help in trouble," as the Bible says — it's natural that He should heal. Many people have found this true, not only in Bible times but today.

Warriors host Kahoks

Collinsville High School's Kahoks will venture into the Granite City Stadium tomorrow for a second time this season, meeting Coach Stan Wojcik's GCHS South Warriors for an 8 p.m. grid contest.

The Kahoks played here Sept. 17 against GCHS North and were shut out 9-0 by the Steelers. The week before, Collinsville lost its season opener 19-13 at Bethalto.

Since the initial visit here, Collinsville has lost 27 to East St. Louis and 47-7 to Belleville West before breaking into the win column last weekend with a 34-29 victory over Alton.

Two players head the Kahok running attack. Joe Camillo with 239 yards rushing and Willie Aharit with 202.

Three receivers have hauled in aerials for gains of more than 100 yards each—Doug Albrecht, Rick George and Ron Dickerson.

Overall, Collinsville has gained 489 yards rushing and 464 yards on passes, with Junior Robbie Jackstadt and Jay Dowling sharing the signal-calling duties.

In beating Alton, Camillo carried for two TDs and Dowling for one.

Dowling also hit Receiver Bill Ehrlich twice with TD passes. George provided Collinsville's lone TD against East St. Louis on a 57-yard pass reception.

Meeting the Kahok attack will be South's offensive-defensive line of Joe Parente, 165-pound senior, Dave Klarich 301-pound junior, Kevin Evans 214-pound senior, Paul Evans 214-pound senior and John Bogosian, 185-pound senior.

Defensively, Bogosian is averaging seven solo tackles per game. Warrior Quarterback Keith Champion has proven himself invaluable on defense by sharing pass interceptions and tipping aerials during every scoring threat.

Offensively, Champion has passed for 224 yards thus far and has engineered ground drives for 748 yards.

Junior Cliff Moran, who started the season in the game against St. Louis DeMet, was sidelined for nearly three weeks with a leg injury suffered in the DeMet contest but has returned to duty. He heads South's rushing gains with 343 yards and three touchdowns.

Mike Clark garnered the Warriors remaining two TD's, one against Belleville East and one against O'Fallon.

Instrumental in picking up yardage on carries for South are Juniors Rob Rongey and Jay Heubner, while Senior Tim Anderson and Moran usually are the targets in Champion aerials.

Hazelwood soccer team bows 2-1 to South's Warriors

Coach Gene Baker's Warriors soccer team handed visiting Hazelwood Central of Missouri a 2-1 loss Monday afternoon in double overtime at the GCHS South field.

Baker concluded that Central, ranked third in the state of Missouri, presented the Warriors with outstanding competition.

Following two periods of scoreless play, Central opened third-quarter action with a goal after just 31 seconds had ticked off the clock.

Mark Goldschmidt tied the contest 10 minutes left in the third period. The Warrior scored from 30 yards out with a curving shot that landed in the upper right-hand corner of the net.

The two teams failed to score in the first period of regulation play, forcing the 1-1 contest into a five-minute overtime period in which both teams again failed to score, necessitating a second overtime period.

"If the score had remained tied after the second overtime," said Baker, "that's the way the game would have ended."

With 23 seconds remaining, Rick Fernandez scored on a foul kick from 25 yards away for the win.

South dominated shots-on-goal, 21-9 and held the edge on corners, 11-4. Warrior Goalie Barry Briggs stopped five Central shots and the opposing goalkeeper blocked seven of South's shots. Fouls were 15 for Central and 13 for South.

DeSmet visits North

Coach Tom Wyrostek's non-conference football Steelers meet their sixth conference team of the season Saturday, hosting St. Louis DeSmet of the Bi-State Conference at 8 p.m. in the Granite City Stadium on Fehling Road.

GCHS North has been dominating its opponents thus far, carrying a 5-0 record against DeSmet's Spartans, but is aware that on a given night DeSmet can display awesome power.

The Steelers have blanked three opposing schools and have allowed the remaining two to score 20 points between them. North has racked up 104 points thus far.

On the ground, North has moved the ball 1,205 yards to the opponents' 495 yards. And Quarterback Greg Corey has gained 442 yards for 425 yards, four yards shy of the total gained by opposing signal-callers.

Steelers Fred Clay enters Saturday's contest with 637 yards rushing and seven touchdowns to head North's offense against a team North has failed to beat since the first confrontation between the two schools in 1974.

Steelers fans recall the 1974 football season as the time North's second-year griders posted a .611 varsity season mark enroute to reaching the state playoffs.

North's lone pre-playoff loss was a close, 28-25 defeat by DeSmet.

Last year, enroute to a 7-2 record and a berth in the Missouri state playoffs, the Spartans blanked the Steelers 24-0.

Coach Bob Christian's Spartans, having lost 15 starters from last year's squad, are said to be struggling but still have a winning 3-2 record. DeSmet lost 17-13 to South-west of Missouri and then beat GCHS South 35-0 before losing 35-7 to Riverview Gardens.

The Spartans bounced back with a 24-7 win over Lindbergh High and beat Francis Howell during the past weekend, 34-6.

Only one offensive player who lettered last season is back—Senior Tom Suntrup at right guard.

At quarterback is Senior Jim Klein, a 6-5, 195-pound converted split end.

Klein is a capable passer and pointmaker. He completed three passes for 64 yards against GCHS South, including a 37-yard TD aerial to Mark Alberici. Klein has backfield TDs on short runs.

Springing out of the backfield on ground plays for DeSmet are Dave Dollar, Mark Daniels and Tom Suntrup.

Trojans at Assumption

Madison High School's football Trojans visit East St. Louis Assumption at 1 p.m. Saturday with hopes of winning for the first time this season. Madison has an 0-5 record.

Coach Jim Monken's Pioneers also feel in dire need of a victory.

They now have a 2-2-1 record, winning two in a row and losing two straight before playing Mater Dei of Breese to a scoreless tie last weekend.

Assumption opened the season with a 34-24 win over Dupo and beat Cahokia 21-12 before losing 18-7 to Christian Brothers College High and then 44-19 to Belleville Allstate.

Strengths in Senior Eric Wright, a 6-3, 180-pound two-year letterman. Fans believe he is on his way to filling the shoes of the late, graduated Jerome Heavens, a Notre Dame star this fall until being injured.

Thus far this season, Wright has rushed for 436 yards and scored eight touchdowns, including five TDs against Dupo. As a team, Assumption has gained 894 yards on the ground and 367 yards in the air under the guidance of Senior Quarterback Michael Harrison.

Harrison had his best passing game last month against Cahokia when he connected on eight of 19 attempts for 174 yards, including TD aerials of 88 yards and 23 yards to Kevin Anderson.

While Coach Nick Jakich's Trojans may have to concentrate on containing Wright, Assumption may have its hands full trying to hold down Sophomore James Heard and to counter the throwing arm of Quarterback Joe Piechocki.

Heard has gained more than half of his team's ground yardage. 262 of Madison's total of 394 yards, and Piechocki has thrown aerials for a total of 524 yards, including three TD passes to Heard.

Of the 34 points that Madison has put on the scoreboard thus far, Heard has earned 24 of that total, opposing schools have scored 146 points against Madison.

Soccer meet championship impresses Cougar fans, foes

"Awesome" was the single word description with which Northern Illinois University's soccer coach, Dave Bucher, answered a question about the 1976 edition of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville team.

"And that's with a capital 'A,'" chimed in Mike Conklin, sports reporter for the Chicago Tribune who was covering the fifth annual Illinois Universities' Governor's Cup Tournament at DeKalb during the weekend.

The verbal exchange took place in Northern Illinois U.S. press box high above the Huskies' football field where the tournament was held.

Coach Bob Gueller's SIUE Cougar kickers were nothing less than awesome as they ripped Northern Illinois 2-0 and then demolished the Leathernecks of Western Illinois in the championship game, 4-1.

The victory gave the Cougars' record to 7-1-0, the lone loss being a 4-2 overtime defeat at the hands of the nation's No. 1 ranked Clemson Tigers two weeks ago. It was SIUE's second title in the Governor's Cup competition.

This week's foes for the Cougar kickers include the Falcons of the U.S. Air Force Academy in a game starting at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Cougar Field.

Greg Villa and Tim Twelman continued their scoring on goal. Twelman made two goals and registered an assist.

Talking about their national ranking, the members of the Cougar team were a little surprised that they zoomed from seventh to third following their loss to Clemson.

Soccer Redbirds surprise Steelers

GCHS North's soccer team now has a 11-4-2 record after losing 2-0 Tuesday at Alton to the Redbirds.

The Steelers defense allowed the hosts only three shots on goal, but two of those shots entered the net in the second period, five minutes apart from each other for the score.

North players attempted to score 10 times without success. Cornerbacks were five for North and three for Alton; and fouls were minimal, North 13, Alton 10.

Coach Bob Kehoe's Steelers managed to dominate the play except in the vital scoring category. Mike Hill handled goaltending duties.

Brad Parker broke the scoring ice for the Redbirds after three minutes of the second of four 15-minute periods, scoring unassisted.

Pat Holman added a goal after eight minutes of the second period on an assist by Jim Spann.

Warriors, Steelers rated 1-2 in 17-team sectional

GCHS South and GCHS North received top seeding last night at Jacksonville for the 17-school Illinois High School Association soccer sectional tournament which starts Oct. 28.

Coach Gene Baker's Warriors are ranked first and Coach Robert Kehoe's Steelers second.

Following the two Granite City schools in order are Collinsville, Quincy Notre Dame, Alton, Cahokia, Quincy Senior High, Springfield High, Jacksonville, Edwardsville, Waterloo, St. Paul of Highland, Springfield Lanphier, East St. Louis Assumption, Gibault, Waterloo, Springfield Southeast and East St. Louis Senior High.

Although the tournament is called the Jacksonville sectional, competition will not take place at that site until the Nov. 2 and Nov. 3 semifinals.

Due to the uneven number of teams entered, it has been decided that East St. Louis and Springfield Southeast will play each other by Oct. 28, with the winner earning a spot in the first round of the sectional tournament.

Opening-round competition on Oct. 28 will see the East St.

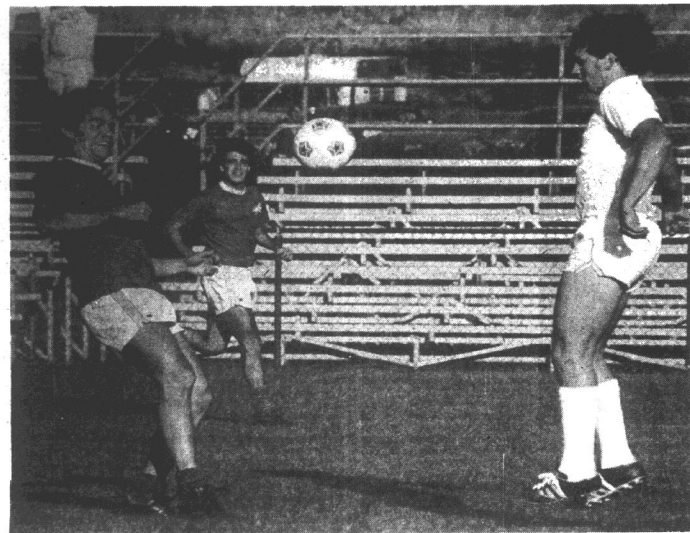

Louis-Southeast game winner meeting GCHS South at South, Jacksonville, playing at Springfield High, St. Paul at Alton, Lanphier at Quincy Notre Dame, Assumption at Collinsville, Waterloo at Cahokia, Edwardsville at Quincy High and Gibault playing at GCHS North.

Quarterfinals will pair first-round victors against each other at one of the winning school's grounds on Oct. 30, with the four winners meeting at Jacksonville in the semifinals, one game at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 2, and another at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 3.

The sectional title contest, from which the winner will advance to state competition, will be played at 2 p.m. Nov. 6 at Jacksonville.

West golf win

Warrior golfers lost 161-170 yesterday to Bellevue West at Arlington Golf Course. Scoring for GCHS South were Benny Brown 40, Bob Crawford 42 and Al Collins and Bob Prowler 44.

INTENSITY OF COMPETITION is clear in this action picture of Wednesday's 3-2 win by SIUE over the University of Missouri-St. Louis at Cougar field. Tim

District strokes for North-South golf folks

GCHS North and GCHS South golfers will join 11 other area high schools in district competition tomorrow at Wood River's Bink Park 18-hole par 72.

Competing also, beginning at 8:15 a.m. are Wood River, Alton, Bethalto, Cahokia, Collinsville, East St. Louis High and Lincoln, Edwardsville, Highland, O'Fallon and Roxana.

The Wood River district is one of 24 being held tomorrow around the state, from which the top three scoring teams and the top three scoring individuals who are not members of qualifying teams will advance to sectional competition in both Class A and Class AA action.

Winner of tomorrow's district will advance to sectional play at Edwardsville Friday, Oct. 22.

The top three teams and top three scoring individuals who are not members of the qualifying teams will advance to the 59th state final tournament Oct. 29-30 on the University of Illinois Orange and Blue Courses at Savoy, Ill.

Steelers mentor Russ Chappell explains that each school will be allowed to have six players in competition, but that total team scores will be calculated from the four best scores of the six.

Entering the tourney from North High (with 18-hole averages indicated) are: Dan Harper 80, Russ Chappell Jr. 80, George Hartz 82, Mike Cella 85 and Scott Robertson and Doug Kraus 90 each.

Warrior mentor Dwayne Chaney notes he has entered Benny Brown 84, Bob Piler 86, Al Collins and Herman Schroeder 90 each, Bob Crawford 92 and Jim Cedar 96.

3-goal game by Cherry Sharp

The SIUE women's field hockey team recorded its first regular season win during the weekend, defeating the Quincy College Hawkettes 3-1. Going into the game, the Cougars had an 0-3-1 record, and Quincy possessed an 0-5-1 season record.

SIUE Coach Cindy Jones summed up the situation before the contest: "It's now or never, ladies." It proved to be now, as the women from SIUE outplayed the fired-up Quincy squad.

Scoring all three Cougar goals were the left winger from Granite City, Cherry Sharp. At 20 minutes, she drove the ball, unassisted, into the Hawkettes' goal. Two minutes later, Quincy tied the contest as right inner Pat Purcell scored.

Just minutes into the second period, Cherry Sharp scored again, assisted by SIUE's center forward, Kathy Goings. The Cougars at this point were moving the ball downfield with precision passing.

The Cougars' third goal came late in the second period on a short corner kick. Center halfback Brenda Schrage drove the ball to Kathy Goings, who fired a shot right on goal. Quincy's goalie caught the ball on her leg pads and tried to kick the ball out of the scoring circle, but Miss Sharp was right in position to follow up the shot and scored.

Cherry Sharp, who had taken some hard knocks throughout the contest, commented on her first hat trick: "I've never smiled and sighed, 'I felt good, real good. Especially the last goal.'"

7th break-in at GC home

The home of Lola Sedabres, 2133 Fourteenth St., was broken into twice this week, marking the seventh time the home has been broken into in two years and the third time in two weeks.

The victim discovered it had been entered between Monday night and 1:35 p.m. Tuesday after plywood and a glass pane were removed from a boarded-up window in the rear bedroom.

There were signs of several unsuccessful attempts to force other windows open.

Nothing was believed missing. Mrs. Sedabres nailed boards across the rear door and secured the broken window, but sometime between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 10:30 a.m. Wednesday the glass in the rear door was broken and the door was forced open, leaving the board from the walls. Bowling exhibition for senior citizens

Professional bowlers Diane Cushman and Joe Joseph, both members of the Brunswick Advisory Staff of Champions, will conduct a bowling clinic for Quad-City area senior citizens Thursday, Oct. 21, at 10 a.m. and again at 1 p.m. at Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl, 3701 Nameoki Road. The clinic will consist of an exhibition by the pro bowlers and an introduction to the fundamentals of the game. "I think everyone will enjoy the program," says Tony Sodi, manager of Tri-Mor. "I believe bowling has a lot to offer the senior participant."

Miss Cushman is considered one of the top women bowlers in the country. She won the first national tournament conducted by the Ladies Professional Bowlers Association, held in Canton, Ohio, and captured the Cincinnati match game championships three times—in 1969, 1974 and 1975. Miss Cushman has a 300 game to her credit. Joseph, a member of Bowling's Hall of Fame, reached a 100-plus average within a year after he started bowling in 1941, and turned to the tennis sport after considerable success as a softball pitcher and a semi-professional football player.

He has captured 10 national bowling titles since 1959, including the 1962 St. Louis Open in which he bowled a 300 game enroute to capturing the title. Joseph took runnerup honors in seven other tournaments and placed third three times. He was elected to the hall of fame in 1969, and to Bowling Magazine and Bowlers Journal all-America teams in 1961 and 1962. He has rolled a total of 59 perfect games.

Noting that Tri-Mor presently has 130 senior citizens bowling in league competition every Wednesday, Sodi believes the clinic will help those already participating to improve their games, and also to generate interest among others to join in the activity. In addition to the instruction, films will be viewed and refreshments served. There is no charge for the clinic.

Baseball varsity outcores alumni

Rightfielder Mike Brown's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the third inning pushed across what proved to be the winning run in the fifth annual SIUE varsity-alumni baseball game at the Cougar baseball field this week. The final score was 8-2 in favor of the varsity.

Alumni jumped out to an early lead with two runs in the first inning. Mike Allaria reached first base on a throwing error and came home on Ron Rohlfing's triple to right-centerfield. Jim Greenwald of Granite City singled home Rohlfing. The varsity came back in its half of the inning to tie the score when the first five Cougar batters singled off Nick Baltz. The varsity pitching staff stymied the ex-Cougars, giving up only three hits, while walking four and striking out four. Jerry Denni picked up the victory for the Cougars, and Larry Moore was the losing hurler for the alumni.

Stan Osterburg started for the varsity and was cuffed around for the alumni's two runs, but still looked sharp. Sparkling in one-inning stints were Sam Pastovich, Jerry Denni, Steve Ashby, Vic Spagnola, Kent Hendrickson, Steve Ehlers and Lance McCord. From that group, Lee hopes to be able to form one of the country's top collegiate pitching staffs. Shortstop Dave Schaake and second-baseman Kevin Pesko paced the varsity's 13-hit attack with two safeties apiece.

Alcohol ban reminder
A reminder that university prohibits the possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages at athletic events at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. This was issued Monday by the administration.

C. Scully Stikes, vice-president for student affairs, said signs concerning the policy are being erected at the soccer field, and extra policemen will be on duty to enforce the policy.

Mid-October lawn repairs

By WAYNE B. SEIFERT
Lawn Extension Advisor

If you have turf repairs that require seeding, I suggest taking a chance. Mid-October is getting late, but the tradition is mild weather until Thanksgiving.

In new soil conditions, rake the seed in water immediately to moisten the soil and start the germination process. Water lightly whenever the soil looks dry.

In old turf situations, look at the size of the dead spots. If the turf is thin but uniform, rely on fall fertilizing.

When there are dead spots as big as a dinner plate, you should reseed. Rake these dead spots with a detach rake to slightly loosen the soil and dead grass before hand scattering the seed.

Keep falling leaves from smothering the new seedlings by shredding them with your lawnmower.

Fall fertilizing will give surviving bluegrass a head start. It needs to take over nearby thin spots. Apply lawn fertilizer at 1 1/2 times the bag rate for best results.

Fall rains, cool weather and this charge of fertilizer will combine to produce a reviving spurt of growth of your bluegrass this fall and continue the momentum into next season.

The juicy red berries so prominent at this season on Japanese Yews, a popular landscape shrub, are not poisonous even though the foliage and crushed pits are known to be fatal. The hard pit inside the berry will pass harmlessly through anyone who happens to swallow them.

The foliage and the crushed seed are known to be fatal to livestock.

The toxic agent occurs in all varieties of landscape taxus, and would require about two pounds of boughs to kill a one-ton horse.

The depressant effect of the toxic agent eventually causes heart failure.

Mrs. Ehler brought a completed baby layette and articles to be sewn by members of the 58'ers 4-H club as one of their community service projects. Articles to be completed will be distributed Oct. 29 at the Halloween Party and are to be sewn and returned at the Christmas party.

A special highlight of the evening was the installation of new officers conducted by Kelly Auli. "Room To Grow" was the theme and she used a rainbow of ribbons to relate to each officer's responsibility in their growth in the club toward the club's community and the world.

The red ribbon was given to President, Janet Scannell, noting courage and leadership. Vice-President, Sue Basarich, was given an orange ribbon to share in leadership; secretary, Patty Basarich's color was blue depicting trust and the club's keeping the club records and green noting growth and life of the club through the treasurer, Karen Spencer, yellow for enthusiasm; and Shannon Bushue, recreation chairman, Gidria Milani's received a purple ribbon noting royalty in serving the members.

Truth Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met last week at St. John United Church of Christ, 1701 Garfield Ave.

Mrs. Betty Williams, leader of the group, presented the devotion for the evening entitled, "Sometime I'll Walk" by William W. Farber from the Guidepost magazine, a lesson teaching that nothing is a barrier when the power of love is strong enough.

A retreat is planned for Oct. 19 by the women of Niedringhaus Church, and plans are being made for the general meeting in November when the Looking Glass Players from Lebanon, Ill. will present a program.

Final preparations for the annual Holiday Bazaar on Nov. 19 were discussed, and work nights planned.

The hostess served refreshments to Mediamen Kathryn Richardson, Shirley Loy, Eula Davis, Wanda Grothuis, Mable Gerisch, Edna Stith, Maxine Hacke, Fern Hahn, Betty Williams and a new member, Shirley Lane.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Mary Piper.

I take S-12... and if you think you can't make me clean.

This passage of scripture tells us of a man who had the dread disease of leprosy. There was no cure for the affliction whatsoever. The appeal of this man to Christ reveals to us the attitude of so many in our generation. "Lord I know you can heal me if you will."

We have only to read further to find Jesus saying "I WILL!" It had always been the will of God to give His people life abundant life if they will. God is not willing that any man should perish but that all should come to repentance. He is the Lord God who health them that are sick. That kepteth them that love thee. That prepare a place for thee. That cometh for thee. HALLELUJAH!

He is truly all that any person will ever need regardless of your situation. If you seek, if you ask, if you knock. He will not deny you. Would you give Him a chance? Today.

and guests. 4-H week activities included a window display made by Lisa Scannell, Wendy Sparks and Janet Scannell in Singer Sewing Center, which received a B rating. Radio publicity was handled by Janet Scannell and

Sue Basarich on the local radio station. Patty Basarich reported on the poster contest winner, Gloria Milani, and presented her with a gift. Muscular Dystrophy chairman Tracey Johnson reported on the project conducted at the August meeting. Ways and Means chairman, Dina Long, gave several suggestions on ways to raise funds and the club then voted to have a Bake Sale on Sat. Nov. 6 with further plans to be announced at the Halloween Party. Shannon Bushue, chairman, Camie Mercer and Gina Lane distributed invitations to the Oct. 29 party to be held at 7 p.m. at St. John's United Church of Christ. Due to a conflict in meeting dates the newly elected officers will not be able to attend the County officer training session so the leaders will hold this training and junior leader training on Oct. 11 at Mrs. Marsha Bushue's home. Junior Leaders for this year will be Janet Scannell, Sue Basarich, Karen Spencer and Dina Long.

Project talks and demonstrations were given by Lisa Scannell, "Tips for Barbecuing"; Shannon Bushue "Photography Tips"; Janet Scannell, "Public Speaking"; Dina Long, "Design in Macrame"; Karen Spencer, "Care and Selection of Zippers"; Penny Strum, "How to Pour a Ceramic Mold" and Sue Basarich, "How to Make Pie Dough". Recreation was conducted by Lisa Griffey and Loretta Paschedag and refreshments served by Beth Goeller, Dina Lance and Loretta Paschedag. Enrollment cards were distributed and all are to be returned to the leaders or junior leaders prior to the Halloween party. Other members present in addition to those mentioned were Nancy Dimitroff, Laura Jenner, Michelle Jenness, Ellen Range and Mrs. Judy Spencer and Mrs. Bushue, club leaders.

What to do before and after a frost

By CHRIS DOLL, Area Garden Advisor

Although we've had a couple of light frosts or near-frosts this fall, many gardens are still producing. By using good harvesting methods and temporary storage, you can extend the value of the garden well into fall.

The most frost-sensitive crops are tomatoes, peppers, green beans and the vine crops. These should either be protected or harvested ahead of the frost.

If you cover plants, don't use plastic, as it conducts cold readily. Newspapers, blankets, boxes or baskets have been used satisfactorily.

Tomatoes can be stored four to six weeks. Select fruits from vigorous vines just before the first killing frost. Remove the stems to prevent them from puncturing tomatoes.

Wash or brush the fruits to remove soil residue, and let dry. Store fruits that show red in separate containers from green fruits.

The red or coloring tomatoes will be used first. Pack the green tomatoes one or two layers deep in shallow boxes or trays for ripening.

Mature green tomatoes reach an eating ripe state at 65 or 70 degrees F. in about 14 days. Ripening can be slowed down by reducing the temperature to 55. Don't hold tomatoes at 50 degrees or below for more than a few days.

At 55, mature green tomatoes need about 25 to 28 days to ripen. An airy cellar or out-building where these temperatures can be maintained along with moderate humidity is best.

Too much dampness encourages decay. Stored tomatoes should be sorted at seven-day to 10-day intervals to remove ripe tomatoes and those showing decay.

Mature green bell peppers can be kept in the home storage for two to three weeks. Firm, dark green peppers are best for storage.

Pick the peppers just before frost. Then wash and sort them according to maturity.

Place the peppers in perforated polyethylene bags and store at temperatures between 45 and 50 F.

Root crops such as beets, carrots, celeriac, rutabagas, turnips and winter radishes should not be put in storage until late fall.

These crops withstand autumn frosts and are better off in the garden until the nights are cold enough to permit proper storage. They store well in caves, basements and pits.

Dig root crops when the soil is dry. Immediately prepare them for storage by cutting the plant tops about a half-inch above the crown.

They may be cleaned and washed if dried thoroughly before storing. These crops keep best between 32 and 40 degrees. They require high humidity to prevent shriveling. To maintain this humidity, bed in moist sand, peat or sphagnum moss. Or, use polyethylene bags with four one-fourth-inch air holes.

Late cabbage can be stored in pits or outdoor storage. To store in pits, pull the plants out by the roots, place them head down in the pit, and cover with soil.

Parsnips, saffron and her- seradish can be left undug and thus stored in the garden. They can also be dug and stored like the other root crops.

All members of the Brassica (cabbage) family must be stored outside of the home because of the objectionable odors they give off.

Every home does not have the ideal place to store these vegetables. Modern homes with central heating are poor for storage unless a separate room is constructed.

EXAMS FOR FOREIGN SERVICE OFFICER JOBS

The deadline for making application to take the examination for foreign service officer careers is Oct. 24, according to David Van Horn, director of University Placement Services at SIUE. The examination will be held at various locations throughout the United States on Dec. 4. Students interested in taking the examination may pick up a booklet containing the application, sample questions, and career information in the Placement Service office, Room 0233 of the John S. Riedeman Building at SIUE.

buildings, caves or fruit cellars, or pit storages under soil and straw. One or all of these may be used, depending upon the crop to be stored.

Deadline on individual retirement accounts

This Dec. 31 is the deadline for contributing to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). The Internal Revenue Service reminds self-employed individuals and employees not participating in other qualified plans that they may contribute $1,500 or 15 percent of their compensation, whichever is less, to an IRA.

Many banks and insurance companies offer such plans and there are also special government bonds and some employer trust accounts. "Any of these may qualify and permit you to reduce your gross income," an IRS spokesman said.

If you are receiving retirement benefits such as Social Security, railroad retirement, civil service retirement or any other type of retirement plan you will not be prohibited from establishing an IRA.

"However, no deductions will be allowed for contributions made during or after the tax year in which you reach age 70½."

Venice to demolish more old buildings

The Venice City Council Tuesday night awarded a contract to the Luster Wrecking Co. of East St. Louis to demolish five deteriorated buildings. The firm was low bidder at $5,620 to demolish five buildings, although the council had called bids on raising five buildings or six buildings. The Luster firm bid was low bidder at the $5,620 figure for razing the five buildings, and $4,395 for raising all six. C. D. Peters Co. bid $10,945 to demolish the five buildings, but did not bid on raising all six buildings. A legal question on ownership of the sixth structure has not been cleared.

The five locations to be demolished and cleared are 1124 Market St., 1414 Market St., 1040 Logan St., 603 Mercedita St. and the rear of 1123 Logan St. The annual audit of city accounts from Kemper, Fisher, Faust, Lawrence & Co., certified public accountants, was accepted by the council. The complete audit is available for public inspection at the City Comptroller's office. A lengthy discussion was held on school crossing guards, working hours, rate of pay and who pays them. Alderman John Ervin raised the question of why the Dunbar and Blair school guards work only three hours a day and are paid $2.20 per hour, while the guard on Broadway works six hours daily at $2.55 per hour. It was explained that there are two different school districts and the pay for the Dunbar and Blair school guards is determined by the Madison School Board and not by the city. Venice contributed half the cost of the two guards to the Madison school board. The council directed the question as to why the Venice school board quit paying half the salary of the Broadway guard last year to John Boushard, a member of the Venice board. "All I can tell you is that the school attorney advised us not to pay anything for the school guard on Broadway," he said. "According to the attorney it is not the school district's responsibility to protect the children going to and from school," Boushard said. It has been the practice, up until last year for the city and school board to share the expense of the Broadway crossing guard. Mayor Mike Ebersold said the council will meet with the Madison board concerning the two salaries. When the question arose over the city paying the full salary of the crossing guard at Broadway and the hours involved, Alderman Thomas Voegelé said, "The question is simply do we (the council) want to protect the children, or not." The council agreed that the Broadway school guard should be maintained, but indicated the Venice School Board has at least a moral if not legal obligation to protect the children. Mayor Ebersold said, "I want to compliment Alderman Ervin for his work in negotiating a franchise with the telephone company. John's efforts will save the city a considerable amount of money."

The council passed an ordinance allowing the telephone company to continue operation in the city in return for free phone services of approximately $300 per month for municipal business phones.

The council approved the purchasing of $2,000 worth of equipment for the maintenance of McKinley bridge.

Duane Gerogeit, bridge manager, who attended the meeting, reported that during September 228,147 vehicles crossed the bridge for a daily average of 7,665 vehicular crossing.

AFB graduate

Airman First Class Jeffrey M. Wittig, 2316 Emert Ave., has graduated at Keesler AFB, Miss., from the U.S. Air Force technical training course for air traffic control operators.

Airman Wittig, now qualified to regulate air traffic and direct aircraft to radar controlled landings, is being assigned to Trinker AFB, Okla., for duty with a unit of the Air Force Communications Service. Completion of the course enables the airman to receive academic credits through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Wittig, a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School, attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Two named commended students

Principal James Dumont announced that two seniors at Granite City High School South have been named Commended students in the Merit Program by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC). Letters of Commendation were presented to Brian Konzen and Robert Sawicki.

These students are among 35,000 Commended students nationwide who are being recognized for their outstanding performance on the 1975 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMQT). Commended students represent less than 2 per cent of the nation's secondary school senior class.

Although Commended students scored below the level required for the 15,000 semifinalists who will continue in the Merit Scholarship competition, their test performance indicates exceptional academic promise.

Edward C. Smith, president of NMSC, said: "The high standing of Commended students in the Merit Program shows their great promise, and their attainment in this nationwide competition deserves public recognition. Commended students should be encouraged to continue their education; our nation as well as the students will benefit from their further educational and personal development."

To increase their opportunities for college, Commended students should be encouraged to obtain, on a cost basis, the home address of Commended students.

In New York, they visited Niagara Falls and at night they viewed the falls from the Canadian side 520 feet high from the Skylon space needle. They took a cruise in Alexandria Bay to see the 1000 Islands on the St. Lawrence River. They also visited Lake Placid and saw where the winter olympics will be held in 1980.

They went through the Ausable Chasm and Shelburne Museum and visited historic Fort Ticonderoga.

In Vermont the group toured a maple sugar plant and the Morse Sugar Shack, where they tasted several kinds of maple syrup and maple sugar candies.

In New Hampshire the group took a tram ride up to the top of Cannon Mountain, 4200 feet high in Franconia Notch, and to see the natural stone face called "The Old Man of the Mountain."

In Maine they took a cruise to the Casco Bay Islands. In York Beach they had a lobster dinner party next to the Atlantic Ocean, and in Gloucester they were treated to a special seafood luncheon, then took a tour of the scenic fishing village on Cape Ann.

In Boston, they had a conducted tour of the city by one of the local guides, and saw the historic Old North Church, then toured the S.S. Constitution, Old Ironsides, in the Charleston Navy yard.

While in Massachusetts they took a tour of the old Sturbridge Village and in Pennsylvania were treated to Dutch meals and toured the Hershey Chocolate Plant to see the making of chocolate goodies.

Navy Mothers to host sale

Plans for a rummage sale to be held today and Friday were finalized at a meeting of the Quad-City Navy Mothers Chapter 850 held at the VFW Hall last week.

Commander Edna Miller was in charge of the session and introduced two guests: Miss Beck Rodgers and Mrs. Nellie Patterson of Ridley Park, Kan.

The chapter received three seals from the National Headquarters for its welfare work in the naval, general and veteran welfare arena, according to Mrs. Miller.

Members agreed to send a $25 donation to Jefferson Barracks for a Christmas party and the proceeds from tag day were sent to the national office for credit to be returned to the local chapter for various veteran projects.

Prizes for the evening were won by Mrs. Hazel Jones and Mrs. Gladys Markovich. The next meeting will be on Oct. 24.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE plans by the Granite City Area Council of PTAs are reviewed by Mayor Paul Schulder with Mrs. Dorothy Baker, left, president, and Mrs. Barbara Haddock, right, vice-president. Mayor Schulder also proclaimed October as PTA Membership Drive Month and urged all those interested in children and youth to join the PTA.

PTA Council seeks members

Mayor Paul Schulder has proclaimed October as PTA Membership Month. Mrs. Dorothy Baker, president, and Mrs. Barbara Haddock, vice-president and membership chairman of the Granite City Area Council of PTAs accepted the proclamation from Mayor Paul Schulder.

They urged everyone to join the PTA, the one organization whose only concern for 79 years has been the welfare of children and youth, according to Mrs. Baker.

Sixteen elementary schools are represented in the Granite City Area Council of PTAs. The council provides an organization in which the units can work together and with the school board and administrators on problems affecting all schools within the council boundaries, she added. At the end of the last membership year, 2,163 parents and teachers were members of the local units. This year, each unit will have a goal of an increase of 10 per cent in new members. Mayor and Mrs. Paul Schulder paid their dues to Washington School PTA this year, and are urging everyone interested in all children and youth to join the PTA today. Interested persons may contact the nearest elementary school for information as to how to become a member, Mrs. Baker said. The proclamation issued by Mayor Schulder said in part: "Whereas, the Granite City Area Council of Parents and Teachers has requested that the month of October, 1976, be set aside to mark the time when special efforts for the recruitment of new members be made, and;

"Whereas, those recruiting efforts of the teachers and parents of our school system has proved rewarding in the past and are deemed advisable for the future welfare of this community organization, and;

"Whereas, the goals of the Granite City Area Council of Parents and Teachers are altogether worthy of public recognition, now,"

"Therefore, I, Paul Schulder, mayor of Granite City, do hereby proclaim the month of October, 1976, to be PTA Membership Month, and commend the occasion to all our citizens."

State's answers to swine flu questions

By JOYCE C. LASHOF
Director
Illinois Department of Public Health

Flu has a special place in the history of epidemic diseases. Plague, smallpox, yellow fever, typhus and the classic scourges have now generally been controlled. Flu, however, has not.

This is so because the virus which causes the disease changes its makeup so often that man cannot build up specific immunity to it.

Once every ten years or so, there occurs what scientists call a major antigenic shift. When this happens, the flu virus has changed so much that almost nobody has any immunity to it.

The population is usually susceptible, unprotected against infection. This happened in 1957 with what was called the Asian flu, and again in 1968 with Hong Kong flu.

In both years, millions of Americans were sick within a period of a few months.

Scientists have now identified a flu virus which represents a major antigenic shift from viruses currently circulating in the human population.

The new strain was first identified in early 1976, following an outbreak of flu at Fort Dix, N. J. Five hundred recruits were infected and one died. Human-to-human transmission of the virus had occurred.

Scientists do not know for certain if this virus will spread to the general population during the next flu season. If it does, it could cause a worldwide epidemic with extensive illness and death.

There is no known cure for flu, although antibiotics are important for treating some of the complications of the disease.

Vaccination before exposure to the disease is the only way an individual can protect himself.

This year, the nation is carrying out an unprecedented effort by the public and private sectors to make available for persons 18 years of age and older who wish to take advantage of it. The vaccine is also expected to be made available to children following vaccine field trials which are currently under way.

Here are answers to the most

Drugs

bond, David Dial, 23, Granite City, heroin, two counts, $20,000 bond; Dennis Steffen, 19, of 2625 Missouri Ave., PCP, $10,000 bond; and Janice Valle, 20, of 2616 Center St., barbiturates, $10,000 bond.

Charged with delivery of cannabis were Terry Lee Miller, 31, of 3009 Dale Ave., $10,000 bond; and Randy Edwards, 22, of 2839 Pershing Blvd., $10,000 bond.

Several additional arrests are anticipated on warrants yet outstanding.

The arrests were made by officers of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois, the Madison County Sheriff's Department, officers of the Granite City, Pontoon Beach and Collinsville Police Departments, and investigators of the Madison County state's attorney's office.

Authorities said the arrests were made on charges resulting from a five-month investigation by MEG officers who reported that more than 30 drug purchases were made by undercover agents at a cost of about $1,000.

Warrants, naming those arrested yesterday were based on suppressed indictments returned by the Madison County grand jury a week ago. The jury returned 18 indictments, including unlawful delivery of a controlled substance and illegal delivery of cannabis.

Bonds for those arrested will range from $10,000 to $20,000, police said. All of the arrests are felony charges and possible sentences vary from one to 20 years imprisonment and fines up to $25,000, a MEG spokesman said.

The series of arrests was coordinated at a temporary headquarters at Granite City Police Headquarters. Teams of officers from the five agencies involved were assigned from there and personnel from the offices of the State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron were present to offer legal assistance.

MEG is a multi-jurisdictional agency made up of officers from various area law enforcement units. It is a project of the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission and was created expressly for undercover operations targeted on narcotics.

commonly asked questions about influenza.

Q. How effective is the new swine influenza vaccine?

A. A recently completed field trial showed that approximately 90 per cent of persons over age 24 responded well to even the lowest dose of vaccine tested.

While persons 18 through 24 had less favorable response, the trials showed that around 50 per cent of persons in this age group can expect to develop some immunity following a single dose of vaccine.

Additional trials, now under way, are expected to determine the advisability of a second dose of vaccine for persons under age 25.

Q. Is it recommended that children under the age of 18 receive the vaccine?

A. Specific recommendations for vaccination of children will not be available until additional field trials now under way are completed.

The American Academy of Pediatrics in conjunction with the Center for Disease Control has recommended, however, that certain groups of high-risk children between the ages of three and 18 be vaccinated. This includes children with chronic bronchopulmonary diseases (such as chronic asthma, chronic renal disease, chronic neuromuscular disorders and chronic metabolism disorders such as diabetes), malignancies and immunodeficient states.

Such children should receive the bivalent (A-New Jersey and A-Vietoria) vaccine in two doses, not less than one month apart.

Q. Will the flu vaccine make me ill?

A. Most people will have no side effects from the vaccine. About three per cent may experience some minor discomfort for a short period, such as low-grade fever.

No serious side effects developed among the more than 5,000 persons who participated in field trials for the swine flu vaccine. Extensive use of flu vaccines during the past 20 years has shown that it has rarely if ever, been associated with severe reactions.

Moreover, flu vaccines of recent years have been less likely to cause mild side effects than earlier vaccines.

Q. Can I get flu from the vaccine?

A. The flu vaccine contains a virus that has been killed. No one will get flu from taking the vaccine.

Because the virus used in making the vaccine is grown in eggs, people who are highly allergic to eggs should not take it.

Q. What can I do for protection if I am allergic to eggs?

A. Persons known to be hypersensitive to egg protein should be given a skin test or other allergy-evaluating test using the swine flu vaccine as the antigen.

Many of those who are allergic may be safely vaccinated under the care of a physician experienced in dealing with allergies.

Even if an individual cannot take the flu vaccine, he will get some benefit from the mass vaccination program. This is so because the unvaccinated will be living in a more protected population and therefore will be less likely to be exposed to the disease.

Q. Are there any special recommendations on swine flu vaccination for pregnant women?

A. The Public Health Service Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices states that women who are pregnant should be considered as having essentially the same balance of benefits and risks regarding flu vaccination and flu as the general population.

The committee noted that while physicians generally avoid prescribing unnecessary drugs and biologics for pregnant women, it knows of no specific reasons why the swine flu vaccine, which is a killed virus vaccine, should not be given to pregnant women.

Q. What relationship does this swine virus have to the 1918 flu pandemic?

A. Flu viruses were first isolated from man in the early 1930s. Therefore, we cannot be sure about the viruses causing earlier epidemics. But testing of blood of individuals who were living in 1918 shows almost all have antibodies to swine-like virus. This suggests that a virus of this sort may have caused the 1918 pandemic.

Q. How was the 1918 flu pandemic different from others?

A. It was unique because of its high mortality, and the fact that so many of the deaths occurred among apparently healthy young men and women.

It is estimated that the 1918-19 pandemic resulted in a worldwide death toll of more than 20 million, 500,000 of them in this country.

By comparison, the Asian flu of 1957-58—the most severe since—caused an estimated 70,000 deaths in the U.S., primarily among the elderly or individuals with chronic illness.

The Hong Kong flu claimed 33,000 lives in 1968 with an economic cost estimated to be four billion dollars in loss of life, medical care, hospitalization and loss of production. There is, however, no evidence that the new swine virus is as virulent as the 1918 virus.

Q. Can I get swine flu from eating pork?

A. No. Flu is spread from person-to-person.

When a person has flu, or is just coming down with it, the fluids in his nose and mouth contain viruses. They are expelled into the air when he sneezes, coughs or talks. Then they get into the noses and mouths of other people and cause disease.

Q. Is there more than one kind of vaccine?

A. Yes. Certain people, such as those with chronic medical problems and the elderly, need annual protection against flu. Therefore, besides protection against swine flu, they also need protection against another type of flu (Victoria flu) that was around last winter and could occur again this winter.

A separate vaccine has been prepared to give them protection against both types of flu.

A. No. Flu is spread from person-to-person.

When a person has flu, or is just coming down with it, the fluids in his nose and mouth contain viruses. They are expelled into the air when he sneezes, coughs or talks. Then they get into the noses and mouths of other people and cause disease.

Q. Is there more than one kind of vaccine?

A. Yes. Certain people, such as those with chronic medical problems and the elderly, need annual protection against flu. Therefore, besides protection against swine flu, they also need protection against another type of flu (Victoria flu) that was around last winter and could occur again this winter.

A separate vaccine has been prepared to give them protection against both types of flu.

Postage meter urges safety at rail crossing

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett said today that his office is taking positive action in supporting a statewide program aimed at reducing fatalities at railroad grade crossings.

A postage meter ad plate with a crossed railroad tracks symbol and the words "Caution Required" has been attached to a postal machine used for correspondence mailed by the Secretary's Driver Services department.

"This will be a part of the overall program of the Illinois Grade Crossing Safety Council in calling attention to the danger at crossings which are identified only by signs," Howlett said.

"It is financially impossible to have lights and gates at the thousands of railroad crossings in Illinois, so we must make people aware of the unprotected crossings," he added.

Statistics show that there were 92 fatalities at Illinois crossings in 1975 and over through September this year.

RETIRING: Mr. and Mrs. Herman (Blanche) Steinberg, furniture store operators in the Quad-City area for 50 years, are retiring Nov. 1. Their store at 1826 State St. will be closed upon their retirement.

Steinbergs retiring after 50 years here

After 50 years of business in the Quad-Cities, Mr. and Mrs. Herman (Blanche) Steinberg, operators of the Steinberg Furniture Exchange, 1826 State St., are retiring on Nov. 1.

The Steinbergs started a used furniture store in the fall of 1926 at 10th Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, and two years later moved to Granite City.

The depression years were very trying times with people out of work and no money.

Steinberg recalled "Quite a bit of the business then was by bartering, exchanging merchandise for whatever we could use.

"As conditions improved, so did our store and we began handling new furniture along with the used."

"We have enjoyed our 50 years doing business with our customers, their children and even their grandchildren. It is with regret that we will close the store on Nov. 1. We want to thank each and everyone of our valued customers who became our friends that have patronized us through the years. We will

Reception Friday for Wilfred Gvillos

Combined federal campaign

A newly expanded Combined Federal Campaign encompassing federal installations in the bi-state area has begun.

The combined campaign, authorized by Presidential executive order, combines and governs all fund-raising efforts of United Way, International Service Agencies and National Health Agencies among all civilian and military federal employees throughout the country and overseas installations.

Mrs. Sally Herbst is the liaison officer for the U.S. Army St. Louis Area Support Center in Granite City.

Mrs. Herbst is working with Bill H. Terrell, 1976 Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign chairman, and A. P. Steinhilber, acting executive director of the local United Way, to coordinate community efforts with the federal employees' campaign.

Mrs. Herbst said, "The East-West Gateway Combined Federal Campaign is the only fund-raising campaign for about 40,000 military and civilian federal employees in this area."

"This one-time solicitation provides federal employees an excellent opportunity to assist a variety of health and service organizations. Through payroll deductions, the employee can budget the contribution throughout the year."

In 1975, the combined federal campaign in this region provided more than $621,000 to organizations. The 1976 goal is $710,000.

Christian Science lecture

Christian healing is a key point of emphasis in the lecture to be given Saturday at 8 p.m. at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave., by Ruth Elizabeth Jenks, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

She noted that her focus is not just on physical healing. "It never is when one relies radically upon Christian healing as Jesus showed us to do," she says.

The lecture, "A New Beginning," is being sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist. Mrs. Jenks will be introduced by David Meyer, a member of the church.

"A careful study of those healed by the Master," Mrs. Jenks noted, "shows that something far greater frequently accompanied their physical freedom. It was the spiritualization of a life or the regeneration of a character."

Mrs. Jenks' denomination, the Church of Christ Scientist, devotes a major effort to Christian healing which the lecturer separates from "wishful thinking." She said "the practice of Christian Science is keyed to spiritually correct reasoning—righteous prayer—starting with an all-powerful, all-knowing God who is Spirit."

Christian Science lectures are open to the public without charge. More than 4,200 are given each year in the 57 countries where branches of the Church of Christ Scientist are located, a spokesman said.

Assertive training

An assertive training group for women will be offered at the Granite City Mental Health Clinic beginning Oct. 26.

The group will meet on Tuesday afternoons from 1 to 3 for six Tuesdays. Group members need not be clinic patients.

The fee is $10 for six sessions. Anyone interested in joining the group may call 877-4420, Mrs. Nancy Miller said.

WILKINS AND TARPOFF WESTMINSTER PLEDGES

One hundred and forty young men representing 80 per cent of the first-year students at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., this year, have been pledged by the seven national Greek letter fraternities on campus here. Kappa Alpha pledges include Granite Cityans Tom Tarpoft and George T. Wilkins III.

For over 100 years, fraternities have played an active role in the lives of many of the students at the 126-year old college. As freshmen, they will reside in the dormitories in the Churchill Quadrangle; next year, as upperclassmen, they will live in their fraternities on campus. Westminster has a majority of its students living on campus.

The "Y" is a United Way Agency.

Merit scholarships offered

Scholarships based on merit and providing up to full tuition for four years are being offered by National College of Education in Evanston through its Competitive Scholarship program. The first competition will be Saturday, Nov. 13, at the college.

They also demonstrate talent in an area of their choice: art, English, mathematics, music, psychology, social science, science, or speech-theater. Awards are made to talented students regardless of financial need.

In addition to the Nov. 13 competition, Competitive Scholarships will be awarded at sessions on Jan. 29, 1977 and April 9, 1977.

Bell replica finishing tour

A replica of the historic Liberty Bell has toured Illinois for 15 months to commemorate America's Bicentennial and will soon have visited every county in the state.

Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state and tour sponsor, announced that when the bell visits Boone County on Oct. 22, it will have visited over 500 towns, traveled over 50,000 miles and appeared at least once in every one of Illinois' 102 counties.

"Never, in my memory, has a state-sponsored exhibit so thoroughly toured Illinois," said Howlett.

"This bell has visited schools, shopping centers, libraries, churches and other public gathering places. It has participated in trade shows, agricultural exhibitions, homecoming parades and Bicentennial celebrations. It even stopped at schools for the blind and homes for senior citizens."

"My office can say with pride that the bell has been displayed within 25 miles of the home of every Illinois citizen."

The bronze replica, which conforms to the original in size and tone, is one of 53 reproductions cast in France and distributed to the states and territories in 1950 by the federal Treasury Department. The bells toured the nation in 1950 to promote the sale of U.S. savings bonds and encourage fiscal independence.

For 25 years, the replica belonging to Illinois sat in a firehouse on the state fairgrounds. Howlett rediscovered the bell and put it "on the road" last August.

"It was our objective to inspire a reaffirmation of the principles the Liberty Bell stands for," he explains.

"We wanted to reach as many Illinois citizens as possible. Of the more than 500 requests received, many came from small towns. No request was turned down unless it created a scheduling conflict."

"The bell spent a full day in Pope County, the least populous county in the state. It appeared twice in Hardin County, the second smallest county."

"The inscription on the Liberty Bell reads: 'Proclaim Liberty Throughout All the Land Unto All the Inhabitants Thereof.' We have done it in Illinois."

Howlett said the bell will be permanently mounted on the grounds of the State Capitol in Springfield some time this winter.

The President's train is scheduled to stop at Pontiac, Bloomington, Lincoln, Springfield, Carlinville and Alton before arriving in St. Louis, from where he will fly back to Washington.

The President will be arriving in Joliet Friday in the late afternoon or early evening and spend the night there. He will campaign in Joliet Saturday morning before beginning his 250-mile journey through the heart of Illinois.

The President will be arriving in Chicago at approximately 5 p.m. Friday.

He will proceed from the airport directly to Joliet.

The first family's youngest son, Steve, visited several cities and towns in central Illinois during the weekend and Jack and Susan Ford were in Springfield Oct. 1. Jack also campaigned for his father through Central Illinois during the primary election campaign.

Steel union candidate lists slate

Edward Sadowski, a candidate for president of the 1.4-million member United Steelworkers of America and director of its 130,000-member Chicago-Gary District, introduced his running mates Monday at a rally in Pittsburgh.

Calling his slate "tough, talented and respected by the members they serve," Sadowski predicted "an across-the-board sweep in February." He is opposing Lloyd McBride of the local district.

The newly announced candidates are: for secretary, Ignacio D. "Nash" Rodriguez, 46, president of American Can Co. Local 1549, Los Angeles; for treasurer, Andrew Kneec, 56, a member of the international union's field staff, of Pittsburgh; for vice president, administration, Marvin Weinstock, 56, a five-term president of Local 1330 and presently a staff representative in Youngstown, Ohio; and for vice president-human affairs, Oliver Montgomery, 47, of the USWA research staff in Pittsburgh.

Wrestling demonstration featured at Rotary meet

Greco-Roman, free-style and high school wrestling demonstrations were given by Chris Whelan, 16, and his brother, Keith Whelan, 17, of Granite City High School North, at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club in the YCA.

Walter Whitaker, wrestling coach of Granite City High School North, explained the various wrestling styles and methods of scoring points as the young men demonstrated.

Also in attendance was Ronald Besser of Florissant Junior College who coaches the Whelan brothers during summer camps in the Greco-Roman style.

Strength, agility, and balance are prime factors in the classic Greco-Roman style, according to Whitaker, as no holds are allowed below the waist. The style uses body locks, throws and flying mares similar to judo, but with no clothes to grab on. Unlike free style and high school rules, a wrestler can not attack the legs. The rules in this classic form have not changed in over 100 years, according to the coach.

Whitaker explained, as the boys demonstrated, that high school and free style wrestling are similar.

The major difference is that in high school wrestling control of the opponent must be maintained.

It was pointed out that in free style a wrestler may score points with a throw on the back as long as he initiated the throw.

The two young wrestlers have attended the Olympics as observers and won numerous honors for their wrestling ability. They are considered potential Olympic wrestlers.

The Rotary Club voted to sponsor the Crime Blocker program as a joint project with the Madison-Venice Rotary Club.

Rotarian Vasil Eftimoff was the program chairman.

County's home builders honor Sen. Vadalabene

Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, has received an award from the Madison County Home Builders Association for his work in securing legislation to encourage more housing starts in Illinois.

Vadalabene's role in the passage of Senate Bill 1719 was cited as crucial to a realistic adjustment of interest rates to benefit both builder and consumer, while providing more jobs.

A plaque was presented to the state senator by Jerry Campbell, executive vice-president of the Home Builders Association of Illinois, at a dinner at the Round Table Restaurant on Route 137. The dinner was a focal point in a membership drive by the 80-member Madison County Association, led by President Alvin Lantz of Edwardsville.

In accepting the award, Vadalabene remarked, "I know that a restrictive mortgage ceiling law has been one of the home building industry's biggest problems in recent years.

"Passage of Senate Bill 1719, now signed by Governor Walker, and which takes effect on Jan. 1, 1977, will provide a permanent solution.

"The new law will protect buyers and, at the same time, give you the flexibility you need in your livelihood of building badly-needed new housing which will also provide many jobs and help our economy.

"It's a great honor to me that an official of the state association would take time out from his busy schedule to present me with this award. It not only recognizes me, but the area I represent.

"It's a good example of the service I try to render in passing legislation that helps the people of the 56th District as well as the best interest of the entire state. This is the kind of service I stand for," Vadalabene concluded.

Polish pierogi, golabki on smorgasboard menu Oct. 31

Polish pierogi (stuffed noodles), Polish golabki (stuffed cabbage), Polish sausage, fried chicken and roast beef will be a few of the dishes featured Sunday, Oct. 31, at the annual smorgasboard prepared by members of the Sacred Heart Polish National Catholic Church, 930 Reynolds St., Madison.

The annual smorgasboard held each fall at the church is a treat for those who like good food, according to Mrs. Ann Bieniecki, chairwoman of the event.

Tickets are $3.50 for adults and $2.00 for children. Serving will be from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. with carryouts available.

"The public is most welcome at our dinner and I am certain everyone attending will enjoy themselves," Mrs. Bieniecki said.

Thompson seeks 'sunset law' for state agencies

Republican gubernatorial candidate James R. Thompson called for the enactment of "sunset law" legislation Wednesday to "reduce waste in government and improve governmental services to Illinois citizens."

Thompson said, "The people of Illinois are fed up with waste in government and they expect government to work as hard in spending their tax dollars wisely as they did in earning them."

He held news conferences in Carbondale, Cahokia, Quincy and Moline.

"A sunset law for Illinois would insure that tax dollars are spent more economically and that state programs which do not work are eliminated," Thompson said.

He explained that a sunset law requires the termination of a given program or agency on a set date.

"In so doing, it forces decision-makers to consciously and explicitly review the program's effectiveness and decide its suitability for continuation."

In the 12th position paper of the campaign, Thompson proposed guidelines for an Illinois sunset law which would affect the state's 373 governmental units.

Thompson's proposals call for:

1. A sunset law which would apply the threat of termination against those units of government where it would be most effective. A termination date for the Department of Corrections, for example, would be unrealistic, Thompson said; however, termination dates for specified programs under the department would be more sensible.

2. A provision in the law to allow the governor or legislature to offer alternatives to programs under sunset review, rather than simple blanket termination or re-institution of existing programs.

3. A review procedure to require that both the Bureau of the Budget and the legislature's Economic and Fiscal Commission undertake analyses for the sunset reviews, and that a standard system of analysis be agreed upon. This would give the legislature independent, objective information before making the decision, he said.

4. Sunset reviews which would provide for citizen input by aggressively seeking public participation in open hearings.

5. A gradual implementation of the sunset review process, tackling the easier, smaller-scale reviews first and learning from mistakes before undertaking massive review of large agencies.

6. Establishment of review on a regular six-year to eight-year cycle, with related programs being reviewed on the same rotation.

7. Development of an orderly procedure for termination of a unit so that employees who might be dismissed would be properly compensated.

Thompson criticized the sunset bill introduced during the last session of the General Assembly as being too narrow in scope and offering little hope of getting the job done.

Thompson said the bill was aimed at only one function of state government—licensing boards.

In addition, it provided for only automatic termination or re-institution of a program rather than alternative proposals which would make a program or unit more effective; the measure also did not require a standard measure of review agreed upon by those making the review, he said.

"The Democratic bill seeks to attack waste in a set of programs which account for only 4 per cent of the state budget and which are 80 per cent self supporting," Thompson said.

EAST 23RD BURGLARY

An air conditioner was removed from a bedroom window to gain entry to the home of James Sallee, 2423 E. 23rd St., Monday. The living and dining rooms were ransacked with clothing torn and photos on the walls broken. Known missing are $21 cash and some blank checks.

He also said the sunset process envisioned by the bill is not sufficiently flexible and does not go far enough in mandating serious program reviews.

"A sunset law for Illinois can work if we want it to work," Thompson said.

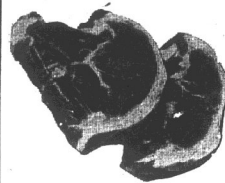

"The sunset concept, if thoughtfully drafted into legislation and implemented by an executive and legislature that are sincerely committed to its success, can substantially improve the delivery of governmental services to the state's citizens."

'One of those days' for the chief

"I never should have come to work yesterday," Granite City Chief of Police Ron Veizer said this morning after a long day which started at 5 a.m. Wednesday on a series of drug arrests, and ended nearly 12 hours later when a car hit the back of his stopped police car, injuring his shoulder.

Earlier, the unmarked police car assigned to the chief was struck and damaged while parked beside city hall.

At 5 a.m. yesterday, the chief met with his men and officers from four police departments and of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEG) to launch a coordinated series of drug arrests.

At 8:55 a.m. yesterday, while some of those arrested were being processed and the chief was concluding his paperwork and news releases, he was informed the car assigned to him had just been struck while parked in the chief's parking space on Edison Avenue beside city hall.

Mrs. Edna Honeycombe, 2232 Miracle Ave., was attempting to park her car in front of the Red Cross office and was backing up when she accidentally stepped on the accelerator, instead of the brake pedal, and her car backed across the street into the left rear of chief's car.

The unmarked police vehicle was pushed over the curb, tearing the right rear tire from its rim, and ended up on the sidewalk. There was damage to both sides and the trunk estimated at more than $500.

Veizer, who had been inside city hall when the accident occurred, jokingly told persons near the accident, "Just looking at that makes my neck hurt," witnesses reported.

As if that was an omen of things to come, at 4:35 p.m. yesterday, Veizer was stopped in traffic in another unmarked police car on Nameoki Road near National Food Store when the auto of Luther Boda, 2017 St. Clair Ave., struck the rear of the police car.

Boda was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. Neither car showed any damage, but Veizer suffered pain in his neck and left shoulder. He did not require hospital treatment.

Veizer said he intended to spend the whole day today in his office.

Seek override on university budget slashes

State Rep. Gerald Bradley, D-Bloomington, majority whip in the General Assembly, joined Democratic gubernatorial candidate Michael Howlett Wednesday in support of override of Gov. Daniel Walker's reduction vetoes in university appropriations bills.

Bradley appeared with Howlett at a luncheon for Illinois State University administrators, faculty, civil service staff and students Wednesday. That appearance followed Howlett's earlier statement that he planned to support the override and that funds were available to pay faculty-staff salary increases originally approved by the legislature.

After talking with Howlett, Rep. Bradley declared he is now convinced there is adequate funding to support restoration of the salary cuts directed by Walker.

The governor, using his amendatory veto power, reduced from 4.5 to 2.5 per cent the average amount of funds for faculty-staff salary increases at state universities.

Bradley said he has received much mail pushing for the override.

Howlett, in his statement, said, "If we are to retain top quality faculty members, we must offer competitive salaries and benefits. For this reason, I favor restoring $10 million of vetoed money to increase salaries.

"We must restore competitive salaries for faculty throughout Illinois public colleges and universities."

At the same time, in a statement released in Normal, Bloomington, Howlett declared he is convinced that "tuition increases will not be needed by our public universities and colleges in the foreseeable future."

"I will not approve any tuition increase unless it is accompanied by increases in scholarship grants to totally offset the impact of such increases on low- and middle-income students."

Howlett added, "Education is my number-one priority."

Sewers

and is not directly involved in financing either the project or its financial obligations—including its fees to attorneys. Smith said the Madison County Board approved the sewer project—termed Madison County Special Service Area Number One—under the understanding that the county would have no financial obligations in the project.

He agreed Hartman never has been appointed an assistant state's attorney in the case because the county does not want to obligate itself for his salary under the present agreement, and doing so might obligate the county to pay legal fees.

Judge Wineland cited a statute giving the court authority to appoint an attorney to defend the county in civil matters where the state's attorney declines to participate. But he overruled Hill's objection to Hartman as attorney without invoking that prerogative to appoint him.

Hartman, who has been the bond attorney since the former board attorney, Horvath, resigned to accept a circuit judgeship, said in the hearing that no member of the state's attorney's office has been the time to fully study the sewer issue, and only he has the knowledge necessary to defend the county against the lawsuit.

While observers credited Hartman for a victory on this point, they credited Hill with pointing out several alleged discrepancies in the county's contention that everything had been done properly in the project for the sewer construction project.

A point by Hill was that the sewer committee may have cited the wrong law when applying to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for a grant covering about 75 percent of the cost of constructing the sewer.

Hill produced a copy of a grant application, which he said showed the committee had cited a statute requiring a countywide referendum to approve the sale of bonds for any improvements, including sanitary sewer.

Hartman explained the county's authority to issue general obligation bonds for sewer construction cost comes from a recent state law allowing counties to establish special service areas for sewer improvement projects, and to sell general obligation bonds to pay for the improvements.

General obligation bonds are repaid by collecting from property owners of the special service area taxes based on the assessed valuation.

While questioning Edward Juneau of Granite City, design engineer of the project, Hill stressed his view that the grant was approved only under a statute which requires a countywide vote.

Juneau, an officer of the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwartz engineering and consulting firm of Granite City, said the effect of the alleged mistake was not with him, but with the EPA, which indicated the EPA is completely aware of the county's funding concept. He said such an error would not affect the status of the grant application.

Hill attempted to drive home a point that Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles used a far more elaborate system in attempting to aid the project, which had been used in efforts to notify residents of the special service area that there was to be a public hearing on the project.

Testimony revealed that a 1974 taxpayer list had been used to mail copies of the notice of public hearing to residents of the service area, while it later was deemed necessary to compare plat and voter registration records to prove petitions to block the project had an insufficient number of signatures.

The state law allowing counties and other municipal bodies to establish special service areas specifies that 51 percent of the residents and 51 percent of the property owners of the proposed area sign petitions opposing its creation, the county clerk may not allow the special service area to be created.

Miss Bowles testified her study showed 7,000 registered voters in the proposed special service area, while only 1,728 opposing signatures were found to be from registered voters.

She also testified that of 6,990 owners of record, only 1,710 signed the anti-sewer petitions.

Hill succeeded, over Hartman's objections, in showing that a lengthy study had been made by Miss Bowles' office to determine the number of voters and property owners in the district, while a less thorough method may have been used in mailing out letters notifying the residents of a public hearing on the issue.

Asked why a more thorough method had not been used to determine owners to whom letters should be sent, Miss Bowles responded, "All of our hindsight is 20/20."

She said the state law on special service areas requires notices be sent to everyone who paid 1974 taxes, and the office complied with that.

Efforts were made to send notices to both the owner and the mortgageholder in most instances, she said.

The county clerk produced a postage slip for $514 for mailing the notices of public hearing. Hill computed this at 13 cents per stamp as totaling 3,957 mailings.

Hill questioned why 3,957 letters were mailed when the clerk's own records show 6,920 property owners.

Miss Bowles explained that when property was in two names, but both had the same last name, it was assumed they were husband and wife and only one notice was sent to them.

"Since most residents of the district have the same account for only 3,957 mailings," she contended.

Hill called George W. Dyckman, owner of the property in the county in the sewer issue, to the stand. He testified he did not receive a notice of the public hearing, even though he owned home at 21 Nightingale Court and owns eight apartment buildings on the Gaslight Walk Apartments in Pontoon Beach.

Dyckman also contended he did not see a legal notice of the hearing, even though he owned the property. He does not receive the newspaper.

No notice was received by him from Illinois Federal Savings and Loan, which holds the mortgage on his properties, he testified.

Dyckman told the judge he does not recall how he heard of the public hearing.

Another resident, Mrs. Ruth Andrews, 3230 Wilshire Drive, contended she was misled in the number of signatures she felt had been collected to block the sewer project.

She said that when she picked up blank petition blanks from the county clerk's office, she was told there were about 3,025 mailings of the public hearing notices and felt only about 1,515 signatures would be required to block the sewer project.

Since more signatures than that were obtained, she at one time was confused the project had been halted, she testified.

Tuesday's activity ended with Hartman stipulating that some savings and loan associations have some area of confusion in notices to the public hearings without names or property identifications on them and were unable to send them on to the homeowners.

He also stipulated that Mrs. Harriet Walcott, 1514 S. Main, was among those who did not receive a notice of the public hearing, since she moved recently into the area and her name was not on the 1974 tax collection book.

The court recessed when the hearing resumed Wednesday morning as Paul G. Halbert, general manager of the Press-Record, identified copies of each issue were sold on the average in the area in 1975 and more than 1,100 copies were sold in the Pontoon Beach area.

Circulation has increased about two percent since then, he said.

Halbert identified copies of the Press-Record from April 26 through May 20 of this year which contained references to the upcoming public hearing, including May 6, which had the legal notice published by the county.

Louis Whitsell, supervisor of Namekoi Township, was the next witness. He testified he also is chairman of the township's board of health and has witnessed problems caused by the lack of sewers in the township.

Whitsell said the board of health receives 217 complaints of health violations in 1975, and 30 of them were directly related to malfunctioning septic tanks.

The rest were problems related to septic tanks, such as people dumping wash water into the ground, because their septic tanks could not handle the wash water, he said.

The supervisor also testified that the township allows the lagoons at Gaslight Walk and Quiet Valley on several occasions and said they do not work properly.

The Gaslight Walk lagoon overflows raw sewage during peak periods, and the Quiet Valley lagoon allows all the water to seep into the ground, leaving uncovered sewage laying on the surface, he asserted.

Hill pointed out Whitsell had examined the Gaslight Walk lagoon since it was enlarged this summer and knew of no overflows since that improvement.

Whitsell offered one statement which was left in the official record, saying, "The town beach is probably on the brink of epidemic proportions from overflowing septic tank systems," and is avoiding the problem this year only because of the lack of rain.

Whitsell also testified that about 50 to 75 living quarters units, mostly four-family units, have been boarded up because there is not enough sewage capacity to hook them in with the Gaslight Walk treatment system.

At Quiet Valley, gasoline-powered pumps and fire hoses are being used to move the water since the other pumps have been broken about two weeks and the village does not have enough money to repair them, Whitsell said.

Ground water seeping into Quiet Valley sewers will have to be corrected before they will be allowed to tap into the new sanitary sewers, he added.

Hill asked him if he was familiar with township residents who now are tapped into existing Granite City sewers, and Whitsell said he was.

Whitsell also said he knew of no one in the township using wells exclusively for water.

He disagreed with Hill's contention that some homes on Gary Avenue which have not yet annexed into Granite City have sewer service.

Whitsell also said he knew of no one in the township using wells exclusively for water.

Hill also contended that lagoons are not necessarily bad for public health, since they treat raw sewage through biological action before discharging the water.

After Whitsell's testimony, Hartman attempted to bring into evidence the issues of the Press-Record identified by Halbert.

Hill objected and criticized editorials on behalf of the sewer project and various articles. He said no anti-sewer letters were printed in the Press-Record; actually, many such letters were printed by the newspaper.

He contended Hartman failed to prove that the Press-Record was the paper of general circulation in the area, and that the Pontoon Beach area in the May 1976, when the publication notice was printed.

Hill said that many newspapers, except for the legal notice, into evidence "would be a gross misstatement," a rather novel question. Should we admit articles of newspapers which are not official, but in fact advised the public that there was to be a hearing?

Hartman noted that no attempt to notify everyone of a public hearing is 100 percent effective. He said that the extensive publicity, legal notice and mailed notices were evidence the committee attempted to do its best in its ability to notify everyone.

Many of those saying they had not received a notice of the hearing attended it, the sewer committee has pointed out previously.

The judge ruled he would accept the newspapers into evidence, but would consider only those portions which served to inform the readers of the upcoming public hearing.

Noting that the Press-Record is the leading newspaper in this area, Judge Wineland said, "Bias or opinion of the writer will certainly not be considered by the court in studying this question of due process."

A copy of the public hearing testimony of May 22 was admitted into evidence by Hartman under a stipulation from Hill that it was the official transcript of that hearing.

Hartman then rested his defense of the sewer program. In his summary, Hill contended again that the county took its authority to build sewers from Chapter 34 of state statutes while using the special service area law for its financing.

Hill quoted a portion of Chapter 34 which he said gives the county authority to construct sewers and other improvements "as provided in this act."

He contended the act in Chapter 34 allows the sale of revenue bonds, or the use of a general tax or general obligation bonds only through a countywide referendum.

Hill said using the sewer authority "as provided in this act" is not legal. "Our point is very simple. They just can't do it. The county is taking the best of two worlds and taxing these people, and that is our contention," Hill stressed.

Hartman agreed that the county started under Chapter 34 and took its authority to construct sewers from that act, and switched the method of financing only after the officials discovered they could not sell revenue bonds at an acceptable interest rate.

Judge Wineland carefully studied the phrase, "as provided in this act," and then stated, "Frankly, Mr. Hartman, that bothers me. I am not going to come out now and say you cannot do that, but it bothers me."

Hill said he did not feel his argument would have any validity if Madison County was a home rule county, but the county has never voted on home rule.

Woman, 49, fatally injured in Madison

Mrs. Violet Mudrovic, 49, a former Madison resident and a 25-year employee at the Consolidated Aluminum Co. plant in Madison, was injured fatally at 9:45 p.m. Wednesday when she fell from the side of a pickup truck at 12th and Iowa Streets in Madison.

Mrs. Mudrovic, of 3151 North 60th St., Fairmont City, suffered injuries to the lower portion of her body, lacerations and bruises. She underwent surgery at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was taken to an intensive care unit where she died at 1:15 a.m. today.

Madison police said Frank Mudrovic, husband of the victim, told them that he and Mrs. Mudrovic left a nearby tavern to go home and were preparing to leave in his pickup truck parked on Iowa Street near 12th Street when the accident occurred.

Police said Mr. Mudrovic reported that his wife was getting in the passenger side of the car as he started the engine. For an unexplained reason, the truck lurched forward, throwing Mrs. Mudrovic off the truck and onto the pavement, police said.

Police said it was undetermined whether or not the wheels of the truck passed over Mrs. Mudrovic.

Born in St. Louis, Mrs. Mudrovic resided in Madison for many years prior to moving to Fairmont City five years ago. Mrs. Mudrovic had been employed as a secretary for 22 years at the Conalco plant in Madison.

She was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church and also belonged to the Conalco Ladies Club and Primaraz, a Croatian Lodge in St. Louis.

Survivors include her husband, Frank Mudrovic; three daughters, Mrs. Frank (Frances) Bologna of St. Louis, Mrs. Vincent (Kathy) Devere of Granite City, and Gary (Sandy) Budkovich of Mitchell, her father, Charles Dupuch of Ellsville, Mo., one brother, Charles Dupuch of Ellsville and two grandchildren.

Juvenile arrests solve series of bike thefts

Granite City juvenile authorities are questioning three youths, ages 8 to 10, arrested yesterday, who allegedly have stolen about three bicycles per day for some time and who allegedly took about six bicycles yesterday before being arrested.

Two boys from the 1900 block of Benton Street allegedly told officers they normally steal about three bicycles a day, ride them and then hide them. A third boy from Kirkpatrick Homes was implicated in some of the thefts and also is being questioned.

The Kirkpatrick Homes boy took officers to Nameoki Road and Manley Avenue where a bike stolen earlier that day was found in weeds.

The three boys allegedly skipped school yesterday. A man who noticed one was riding a bicycle belonging to a neighbor boy stopped the three near the Nameoki Road Fire Station at 5:20 p.m. Wednesday, but one escaped before officers arrived.

Questioning of the other two led to information clearing about five bicycle theft cases and identifying the boy who escaped, police alleged.

REVIVALIST at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, 2501 Clark Ave., Oct. 17 to 20, will be Rev. Bud Orf, Carlinville, evangelist, pastor and recording star. Rev. Orf will speak nightly at services beginning at 7:30.

Released on bond

John H. Bruning, 17, of 2019 Benton St., pleaded innocent in Granite City court at 3:40 p.m. Wednesday to burglary of an auto and was released on a $10,000 recognizance bond.

A policeman alleged he saw a youth in an alley near 20th Street and Delmar Avenue attempting to hide something in his trousers. The officer stopped the youth and alleged a transistor radio was sticking out from under his belt.

Investigation indicated the radio may have been taken from a station wagon parked behind the Granite City Public Library nearby, officers said.

ARREST ON WARRANT

Thomas H. Culp, 24, of 1108 Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested at his home at 1 p.m. Monday on a warrant from Jefferson City, Mo., alleging violation of the terms of his parole. He was to be returned to Jefferson City for a hearing.

Woman charged Pleads guilty

Diana L. Fish, 31, of 2533 Hemlock Ave., was arrested this week in the parking lot of Joyce & Mickey's Tavern, 18th Street and Delmar Avenue, and was charged with criminal trespass to property, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Police said they first were called to the tavern parking lot on the report of a woman in a car running over a man. Officers found a woman and a man in a car arguing and questioned the man.

He had a swollen lower leg and was unable to walk on it, but told police it was an old war wound and he declined to be taken to the hospital, police related.

The tavern owner alleged Diana Fish had thrown a beer bottle at the rear bar, breaking several bottles and glasses. She then left the tavern and was arrested in the parking lot.

She was taken to the Granite City Police Department where officers alleged she tried to hit and kick them and used obscene language. She was released on $75 bond.

Granite City Police Detective Don Knight saw a car in the 2600 block of Lincoln Avenue with plants in the rear seat at 2:35 p.m. Wednesday, but did not become suspicious until the young woman driver quickly moved the plants to the floorboard and he recognized her leaves as allegedly being marijuana.

Knight stopped the car and was about to question the 16-year-old St. Louis driver when another car stopped and the passenger in the second car got out and allegedly told him the five plants were hers.

Betty Jean Herrington, 19, of 2609 Lincoln Ave., the passenger in the second car, was charged with unlawful production of cannabis.

She pleaded guilty in Granite City court at 2:55 p.m. Wednesday and was sentenced to serve on year of probation.

News notes

New polls show that President Gerald Ford, after almost overtaking Jimmy Carter in popularity, has slipped backward and trails the Democratic nominee.

Vice-presidential nominees Robert Dole and Walter Mondale will debate tomorrow night, and the final Ford-Carter debate will be held the following Friday.

Illinois surveys show that, if the Nov. 2 voting instead took place now, ticket splitting would prevail. Answers to pollsters indicate Jimmy Carter, Democratic Presidential candidate, and Democrat Alan Dixon, nominee for secretary of state, are likely winners, but the Republicans can elect James Thompson as governor and re-elect Attorney General William J. Scott.

President Gerald Ford's train visit to Alton Saturday is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. at the Amtrak stop at 3400 College Ave.

An Illinois State Bar Association poll of attorneys has led to recommendation of both Joseph J. Barr and Harold R. Clark for retention as Third Circuit judges, but a "not recommended" vote on Horace Calve, Democratic nominee for a circuit judge postscript. The February report, reissued Monday, says Republicans returning ISBA ballots recommended Judge Calve but Democrats, more numerous, did not.

He is a crewmember of the frigate USS Valdez, a Hewes-class frigate, 438 feet in length. The Valdez and three other ships of Destroyer Squadron Four will participate in a series of training maneuvers designed to test the ships' capabilities and enhance their operational readiness.

Grobowski will have the opportunity to visit Naples, Italy, and Rota, Spain, during the six-month deployment.

A 1974 graduate of Granite City High School South, he joined the Navy in December 1975.

He is expected to be delayed about two weeks, until early January, the Internal Revenue Service said Tuesday.

Man beaten

Charles Haws, 3925D Village Lane Apartments, was beaten by a young man in his apartment at 4 p.m. Wednesday and was taken by ambulance to Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, with chest pains, weakness and abrasions to both legs.

Haws said the young man, whom he knew, came to the apartment with a woman and they demanded money from him. He refused to open the apartment door for them and the man kicked the door open, damaging the frame. He then struck Haws legs and went outside to Haws car, kicking the side and denting in the left door and rear quarter-panel.

The two left in a green 1968 Dodge. Haws noted he had recently been released from Jewish Hospital following a heart attack.

THE PUZZLE CHILDREN

A half-hour local special will immediately follow "The Puzzle Children" at 8pm.

From two to eight million children in the U.S. are learning disabled. They're bright children, children who want to learn, and for whom the world can be a pretty frustrating place.

They're "The Puzzle Children."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of EDITH L. SIMPSON (Monroe), who departed from this earth at the age of 22 years. To our daughter who's gone but not forgotten. She left us quietly her thoughts, and she found us faith to look ahead and find the ever near. And you to know that here below hearts are held dear. So God take care of our little girl we miss and love so much.

In loving memory of ALEXANDER J. ROZYCKE, who departed from this earth Oct. 11, 1975. He left us quietly, his thoughts unknown. But he left us a memory. We are proud to own. So treasure him, Lord, in your garden of rest. For when on earth, He was one of the best. Dear Lord, take a message in Heaven above. Tell him we miss him. And give him our love.

Scott sees progress on environment

Attorney General William J. Scott is calling for governmental efforts to establish a "combined top priority" program of creating jobs for Illinois workers through a "positive approach to environmental programs and conservation efforts."

Scott said he will use the powers and influence of his office to obtain support for such priority programs from federal, state and local governments.

He said his past experience in a series of successful actions to steel companies from polluting Lake Michigan demonstrated that real jobs are created when industry is led into environmental control programs.

He asserted that such programs have driven neither industry nor jobs out of the state.

"In fact," he said, "both the economy of the state and the health of our people have benefited because we approached the problem with determination and fairness."

Scott said, "Solid long-range programs aimed at improving the environment create real jobs for the skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled workers and help with two major problems—unemployment and pollution."

"Protecting the environment is an effort that will take years and in a sense, establish a new arm of industry—not just temporary make-work programs."

He cited his efforts to bring coal gasification facilities and a new airport to Illinois, and to place "nuclear power with proper safeguards."

October is 30th anniversary of school lunch act

October marks the 30th anniversary of the National School Lunch Act. In marking the event, State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin has designated this week through Saturday as Illinois School Lunch Week.

Dr. Cronin noted: "It is important for those of us active in education to realize that the school lunch program is dedicated to furthering the nutritional well-being of Illinois school children."

This year's theme, "You Are What You Eat," emphasizes the important relationship between nutritious school lunches and classroom achievement.

Dr. Cronin pointed out the school lunch programs for their positive nutritional impact on school children in Illinois and America: "We must consider the condition of the children we are trying to teach. A hungry child just doesn't learn well, or perhaps at all."

When we feed a child, we help meet the basic prerequisite to his or her learning."

Miss Julie Fehrman and Thomas Worthen are wed

St. John United Church of Christ was the scene of the wedding on Oct. 2 of Miss Julie A. Fehrman, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Jeffries, 2425 Roney Drive and Thomas L. Worthen, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren T. Worthen, 1109 Niedringhaus Ave.

The Rev. Dr. Paul Surbey performed a double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening. Altar bouquets were arrangements of lavender gladioli, white, melon and light green carnations intermingled with yellow roses, baby's breath and greenery.

Aisle standards holding burning tapers were festooned with satin bows and sprigs of daisies and carnations and illuminated the white carpeted aisle.

An A-line style gown fashioned of Chantilly lace and complemented with a triple tiered fingertip length veil of silk illusion was worn by the bride.

Bishop sleeves were set into the fitted bodice designed with a scallop V-neckline accented with jewel motifs and the long skirt was encircled with a ruffled lace flounce which extended into a cathedral train.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, yellow rose buds and lily of the valley.

Maid of honor Miss Rose Saputo chose a yellow full length sleeveless chiffon gown designed with a scoop neckline, edged with a chiffon double cape collar. A spiral ruffle accented the left side of the skirt and encircled the hemline.

She held a bouquet of yellow carnations and rose buds.

The bridesmaids Miss Debbie Jatho, Mrs. Janet Timmons, and Miss Lynn Fehrman, sister of the bride, selected identical styled gowns in orchid, multi green and apricot.

Each attendant carried a colonial bouquet of carnations and rose buds in hues to match their dresses.

Preceding the arrival of the bride party Kathy McCann and Steve Campbell sang, "If It Were," and the Lord's Prayer accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Irene Rapp.

Cindy Jeffries and Loren Worthen Jr., a niece and nephew of the bride couple, served as flower girl and ringbearer. She was dressed in a long yellow frock and carried a white basket of white carnations centered with yellow rose buds.

The groom chose his brother,

Bill Worthen, as best man; John Timmons, Dan Winkle, Brad Dunn, a cousin of the bride, served as groomsmen.

Escorting the guests to their seats were Mike and Dennis Worthen, brothers of the groom, Lynn Jeffries, a niece of the bride, registered guests at a reception held at the Elks Club immediately following the ceremony. Assisting were Betty Dunn, an aunt of the bride and Kathy Jeffries, the bride's sister-in-law.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted at Charlie's Restaurant, for members of the wedding party and their families.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jeffries, selected a long aqua gown worn with a matching chiffon cape and accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Worthen, appeared in a pale blue polyester dress and jacket ensemble complemented with silver accessories. Both mothers wore white rose bud corsages.

The bride attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and is presently enrolled at Belleville Area College where she is studying to become a radiologic technologist. Her husband is employed at Granite City Steel and is a member of a Masonic Lodge.

Name the Fair contest

With Freedom Fair '76 now a memory, Illinois State Fair officials are looking toward the 1977 exhibition and are searching for a name and theme idea.

A "Name the Fair" contest has been announced by Acting State Fair Manager Nick Stone. Stone said the State Fair name is used in advertising and promotion of the fair and its featured programs. Recent State Fair names have been "Super Fair '75" and "Freedom Fair '76."

The person submitting the winning name and theme idea will be an honored guest at the 1977 fair. Prizes include two reviewing stand tickets for each of the fair's grandstand shows, two season admission passes to the fairgrounds, free season parking at the fairgrounds, and a plaque to be presented during ceremonies at the opening grandstand show.

Entries may be submitted on a single sheet of paper with the suggested fair name at the top, followed by an explanation of 50 words or less expressing why the name should be selected.

All entries must be received not later than Nov. 1, at the following address: "Name the Fair Contest," Illinois State Fair, P.O. Box 576, Springfield, Ill. 62766.

TIRES ARE SHOT

Charles Jarrett, 2125 Nevada St., and a young woman were talking in his car in the 2100 block of Nevada Street this week when a youth, about 18 years-of-age, reached his hand through the car window and attempted to unlock the door. Jarrett said he yelled and the youth walked away and joined a group of youths on the street. The following morning, Jarrett found all four tires of his car had been shot during the night.

Pontoon Lions, Explorers raise $2,400 for blind

Members of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club, assisted by members of Pontoon Beach Police Explorer Post 255, collected over $2,400 for the blind during "Lions Candy Days" which were held statewide during the weekend.

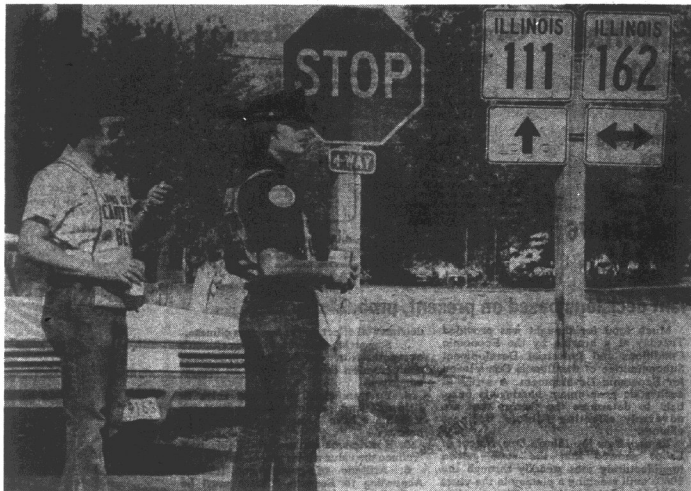

Lion President Donald D. Patrick had announced earlier this month that this year's goal would be $2,000.

"This was our greatest Candy Days ever," Patrick said. "I want to express our sincere thanks to all of those that helped, the local businessmen that underwrote the cost of the candy, members and adult advisors of Explorer Post 255, and all other volunteers that were in the campaign, and especially all the fine people of our community and surrounding communities that donated so much this year."

"Much of our success also can be attributed to a job well done by this year's Candy Days Committee Co-chairmen, Vince Thorpe and Mike Bradley Briggs," Patrick noted.

Duane K. Skinner, club treasurer, announced the totals late Sunday night after members of the Lions Candy Day Committee and members of Explorer Post 255 made the final count.

"In what is becoming to be a traditional race between the two organizations as to which can raise the largest sum, the Explorers for the second year were the winners," Skinner said.

Things may look a little insane at North on Monday as the week begins with students all wearing crazy hats and sunglasses.

The club's at North will sponsor various booths to kick off the homecoming week in the cafeteria. Activities in the booths will be from 3:30 p.m. until 6 p.m. Monday with such things as tacos, popcorn balls, cakes, music and junior olympics featured. Monies earned are used by the various clubs for their activities.

The students will wear their clothes backwards on Tuesday, Oct. 19. Wednesday, Oct. 20, is "Hillbilly Day" with appropriate student dress; Thursday, Oct. 21, is "Mask Day"; Friday, Oct. 22, will include a Homecoming parade at 3 p.m. with a bonfire at 7 p.m. and the dress for Friday will be the school colors, black and gray.

The homecoming football game will be held Saturday, Oct. 23, at 8 p.m. against Althoff on the Fehling Road field.

Immediately following the football game, a dance will be held in the North cafeteria with "March Hare" the featured band. Student identification will be required to the dance and admission is $1.50.

Tickets due by Monday

Tickets for the Uniwah (Quad-City) Boy Scout district recognition dinner must be purchased by Monday, according to Ronald Coleman, dinner chairman.

Plant decisions based on present, probable 'climate'

Much food for thought was provided Tuesday at a hearing by the Economic Conditions and Industrial Development Subcommittee of the Illinois Commission for Economic Development. A series of such state government hearings is being held to determine the factors that are adversely affecting Illinois' business climate.

Figures from the Illinois Department of Labor showed that the state gained manufacturing jobs steadily through the 1960s until reaching a plateau in the years 1966-69. Since then, Illinois has experienced a downturn in industrial employment. As of August 1976, only 1,214,000 were employed in manufacturing in this state, almost identical to the 1,213,100 employed in August 1962.

Orville V. Berggren, Illinois Manufacturers' Association president, cited as major causes of the slump:

1. State spending has doubled in the last six years, with "lightening future tax implications."

2. Taxation — Talk by politicians of increasing taxes on corporations by raising corporate income and other taxes has a detrimental effect on the business climate. 3. Staggering increases in workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation costs have hurt all Illinois employers.

4. Environmental protection rules in Illinois and enforcement policies sometimes have been regarded as anti-industry.

5. Restrictions on use of Illinois coal "reduce the value of this great asset."

6. Attitude of government leaders. According to Berggren, "There must be recognition that the economic health of the state depends on preserving our present industrial base — not only to alleviate our present unemployment problems but also to protect the tax base. Decisions regarding location or expansion are made on estimates of future conditions as well as on present conditions. Expressed attitudes of government leaders are important in this regard."

He concluded, "Other industrial states that are having problems similar to ours, some even worse, are now trying seriously to come to grips with them. Illinois must do no less."

Inflammatory words inappropriate on regional airport

"Extremism in defense of..." hasn't been a popular phrase since 1964, when Barry Goldwater proved one can lose a Presidential election with the "help" of slogans like that.

But extremism in defense of the St. Louis airport is being practiced this year by a new group that calls itself the "Citizens Committee to Save Lambert."

The group seems to have hired itself a public relations firm and is issuing neatly-typed press releases. But it is ripping over its tongue about like Mr. Goldwater — and like some of the 1976 candidates.

The committee, formed on Oct. 2, says it is busy "saving Lambert and stopping the Illinois plan to steal our airport."

This seems an injudicious choice of words because, we would suspect, the number of thieves per thousand population is probably as large in Missouri as in Illinois.

Certainly, no physical facilities are to be "stolen" from Lambert, nor is Lambert in danger of going out of business, as some of the committee's statements imply.

Even if airlines land at a more spacious and safer airport proposed for Columbia-Waterloo, Lambert would be able to remain in permanent use as a major general aviation site, with extensive corporate, freight, pleasure and private air traffic.

Stealing doesn't seem to fit into appropriate dialogue on the topic, no matter from what vantage point airport needs are discussed.

Certainly, if this truly is a bi-state metropolitan area, as so many Missourians are prone to point out, there isn't going to be anything missing, misplaced or stolen; the region won't be losing its one big airport, but instead winding up with two.

"We don't know whether a new airport ever will be built, considering the volume of political and economic pressure being applied against it. But we would like to be able to hope that the outcome will depend more on the facts of aviation needs than on who has the most weight to "lean" on the decision-makers."

The Oct. 2 announcement several times used the phrase "abandonment of Lambert," which seems inaccurate, and in one of these instances warned that "we will not accept the abandonment of Lambert for the sake of promised economic advantages for part of Illinois." It argued against penalizing "one segment of a region's economy for the benefit of another segment."

As U. S. Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman and others have pointed out, the reason for a new airport is not to restrict but to expand the bi-state region's economy, air travel and ability to compete with other U. S. transportation centers.

The entire area — Illinois and Missouri — will suffer if the present hemmed-in airport hampers population and economic growth in future years. And the entire region, not just Illinois — can benefit from the creation of what many experts expect to be the world's most efficient and modern airport.

Massive crime investigation after murder of newsman

Editor & Publisher magazine — The cooperation of 11 newspapers in sending their investigative reporters to Arizona to probe criminal activities that might have interstate connections is unique, as is the newly-formed Investigative Reporters and Editors Association which will direct their efforts.

Although prompted by the bombing murder of investigative reporter Don Bolles in Phoenix last June, the IRE team is not charged with responsibility for uncovering details of that crime, but with investigating which are said to be mob-controlled.

If the theory of new blood and a fresh approach in this unusual newspaper-organized crime busting effort gets results, it may be the beginning of a new era in investigative reporting, where teams of reporters from many newspapers work together on stories of national importance not necessarily limited to crime.

Would Dixon have run better?

By AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — "If only Alan Dixon were now the candidate..." That's the line being repeated by many Democrats as they realize their chances of electing Mike Howlett governor are bleak. Dixon, the fashionable thinking goes, would have been the strongest Democratic candidate and he could have defeated Republican Jim Thompson.

Of course, all of this talk about Dixon is speculation because he withdrew from the governor's race when many of his friends told him they favored Howlett.

Let's review the political climate of one year ago. When Dixon announced he would challenge Gov. Dan Walker in the primary, his candidacy was well received.

Undermining the whole effort, however, was the talk that Howlett would back down from his announced intention of seeking re-election as secretary of state and instead go for governor.

Finally, of course, Howlett did switch. Chicago Mayor Richard Daley did talk Howlett into running for governor, there's no doubt about that, but the fact many influential Downstate also encouraged Howlett to run is often overlooked.

Would Dixon have made a stronger candidate?

Perhaps. But if he were running for governor instead of secretary of state there certainly would not be the euphoria surrounding him.

In the first place, there's considerable doubt as to whether he could have defeated Walker in the primary.

Dixon, who lives in Belleville, probably would have run stronger Downstate than did Howlett, but the key would have been in the city of Chicago.

Would Daley have turned on the juice for Dixon the way he did for Howlett? Probably not. Dixon, although he has managed to have good relations with Daley and the other Chicago ward committeemen, is still a Downstate. Daley slated a Downstate for governor in 1972, Paul Simon, but the machine didn't really deliver for him the way it could have.

Political scientists think a "boss" of a party would rather deal with a member of the opposition party rather than with an insurgent member of his own party.

That's why they say Daley's priority was defeating Walker in the primary, rather than electing a Democrat in the general election.

There's no doubt that Howlett was extremely popular and the strongest opponent for Walker — on the day of slating.

The disagreement comes when you ask who would have done the best on Nov. 2.

Some still think Howlett can pull it out. Others think Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan could have whipped Walker in the primary and then matched Thompson's charismatic appeal. Most think Dixon should have been the one.

The trouble with all of the speculation is that it ignores what the public would think of these potential candidates after Walker smeared them in the primary. Running for state treasurer or secretary of state or lieutenant governor is far different than running for governor.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK IS OCTOBER 10-16

Secretary of state office last patronage stronghold, may become less in future

By KEN WATSON
SPRINGFIELD — The secretary of state's office remains the last big stronghold of patronage in Illinois state government.

All but about 500 of its approximately 4,000 employees own their jobs to politics. But the trend toward far less emphasis on patronage, which has been felt in other elected offices in recent years, is beginning to reach here, too.

Some major changes appear likely in the next several years. One will probably be the establishment of a separate Personnel Department based on a merit system, to serve the secretary of state alone.

Both current candidates for the office, Democrat Alan J. Dixon and Republican William C. Harris, are cool to suggestions that the office's employees be placed under the present Personnel Department.

"The Personnel Department has traditionally been under control of the governor," Dixon states. "I wouldn't want the governor to be over my personnel."

Harris says that "personally, I think an office of the size and importance of the secretary of state ought to have its own personnel system."

Both Dixon and Harris also agree that all policy and high level administrative posts should be exempt from any merit system. Both candidates said they will bring key aides with them from their present offices if elected in November.

They also are in apparent agreement that technical, clerical and other non-policy positions should have merit system protection.

What appears possible is that the legislature within the two-year term of the next secretary of state will enact legislation setting up a separate, modified Personnel Department for the office.

This would enable the next four-year secretary of state, who would take office in 1979, to fully implement the new system. Presumably the office would then be sufficiently well-balanced between original Republican and Democratic patronage employees to permit a peaceful and orderly transition.

This is a pattern that has been followed in the past in the transition from a spoils to merit system for the State Police and highway maintenance workers.

Efforts to pass a merit system bill for the secretary of state were dropped early in the recent legislative session. This was due primarily to the nomination of Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett for governor.

Both Harris and Dixon have extensive legislative backgrounds and are held in such high regard by most legislators that neither would probably experience much difficulty in achieving enactment of a modified personnel system.

Meanwhile secretary of state employees, patronage or not, apparently need not worry about their jobs. Both Harris and Dixon make it clear that there will be no mass firings when either takes over the office.

"Nobody need fear for their job next January when I am inaugurated, providing they're doing their job," Harris declares.

"I believe people ought to be secure in their employment. But I want to make it unmistakable that I think I can find competent, qualified people who also happen to be Republicans in fulfilling the responsibilities of that office. But I don't contemplate firing people because they might be Democrats. I will get rid of people who are not doing their jobs satisfactorily and adequately."

Nor is patronage likely to be completely done away with under Dixon. He, too, would continue to some extent the present mixed system between patronage and strictly merit.

Dixon and Harris share the view of other professional politicians that patronage is far less important in winning elections than it once was and that public relations, including the great impact of television, is now the chief tool of election victory.

But they think there is still a limited role for patronage.

Walker avoids blame if ticket loses

By AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — Gov. Dan Walker has positioned himself so he can't be blamed for Mike Howlett's defeat. That's the way many politicians assess the governor's stinging attacks on Jim Thompson, Republican candidate for governor.

The reasoning is this: Walker is laying the groundwork for a comeback in 1979 by taking an anti-Thompson, not a pro-Howlett stance. When he seeks Democratic support in the 1978 primary, he can tell the politicians he worked hard for Howlett and the entire Democratic ticket in the fall of 1976.

Of course, Walker wasn't seen in public with Howlett until six months after Howlett defeated him. And the governor usually sings the praises of all Democrats without mentioning Howlett by name. If Howlett is mentioned, it is in the context that if Howlett is elected he will sign social legislation. And if the politicians are looking for a good quote to save if needed in 1978, they won't find any.

Instead, Walker had continued his confrontation style by using the Republican candidate as the target.

Referring to the special session of the General Assembly dealing with school aid, the governor minced no words.

"Where are you, Big Jim? 'Politicking or taking care of the school kids? The voters won't give you immunity on this issue.'"

The final verdict isn't yet on the school aid question, but it's clear that the former prosecutor has taken his first strong punch of the campaign.

Business burns; inspection not made

To the Editor:

Your reporter's excellent story failure to inspect all new businesses for fire and safety standards contained City Clerk Robert Stevens' allegation that he issues a form to operators of new businesses and that they are then to get city inspection of the premises.

Upon moving into a building on Washington Avenue, I pointedly asked if there was "any kind of permit or form needed or anything I should do" to comply with city ordinances.

Again, when we planned to begin the retailing of building maintenance supplies, I again specifically asked personally if "any form or process is necessary."

He responded "no" without qualification or other advisory on both occasions.

Thus, the person starting a business or merely moving an existing business to new quarters—but in an activity not regulated by city licensing—is not advised even upon direct questioning of any need for city inspection.

My business was burned out. Someone did not bother to put the back on the furnace and did not complete the fire wall.

No deficiency was noted by inspectors because I was never advised that inspection was available and required.

New Chouteau highway truck needed

To the Editor:

In reply to the article concerning the refusal by Chouteau Town Board auditors on purchase of a dump truck, who are more qualified on the need for such township equipment—the auditors or our highway commissioner, Jim Estes?

There are only four trucks owned by the township. One is 17 years old, one is 13 years old and another is 11 years old.

Repair bills are high due to the age of these trucks, and it is almost impossible to find some parts—especially new parts. It is a waste of money to have a commission for days. Anyone owning cars or trucks can realize the expense of repairing older models.

If there is a surplus of money in another budget, why can't it be transferred for roads and equipment?

The government allots money for community improvements. This money and equipment belongs to us, the taxpayers of Chouteau Township.

New airport can spark job growth

To the Editor:

I am joining with the U.S. Department of Transportation in defending against a lawsuit that challenges the department decision on a new St. Louis metropolitan airport in Illinois.

Resolving the dispute over the airport's location quickly is essential to providing jobs and boosting the economy on both sides of the Mississippi River. The State of Missouri and the Missouri-St. Louis Airport Authority have filed suit to challenge the U.S. Department of Transportation's decision to approve a new airport in the Columbia-Waterloo area.

In my letter to Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr. advising of my decision to act on behalf of the people of Illinois, I also noted that a similar decision is under consideration by the Illinois-based St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority.

It is important to both Illinois and St. Louis that this matter be resolved before a prolonged dispute kills all hope for creating a major new air transportation center for the greater St. Louis metropolitan area.

Howlett proposes state energy plan

The Democratic candidate for governor, Michael J. Howlett, has proposed a 10-point energy plan for Illinois. He called the key to solving the nation's energy needs and strengthening Illinois' economy.

"Illinois has more abundant reserves of bituminous coal than any state in the nation," he said. "We have enough coal to feed an energy-hungry America for 150 years. Our challenge is in finding ways to use it without harming the environment."

Howlett said three "hard facts" justified the plan: The days of cheap and abundant fuel have been replaced by lean years of scarcity; the conflict between energy and environmental goals made it important to "strike a socially responsible balance;" and federal energy policy "is confused, contradictory, and mismanaged."

He said the federal government's project Independence, which was to have given the country energy independence by the year 2000, was failing as energy needs grew.

"The U.S. has only six per cent of the world's population but uses a third of the energy. U.S. consumption will double by the year 2000. Despite our alarm after the 1973 Arab oil embargo, the percentage of our petroleum imports from foreign sources has grown to the point where today almost half our oil is imported."

Illinois government must face these realities and we must develop our own energy policy, Howlett said.

"We must not let our future depend entirely on international politics or on Washington's response."

Howlett proposed a three-pronged policy concentrating on coal development, energy conservation, and development of alternate energy sources.

He said a dozen new mines employing 4,000 new workers were being added to the more than 50 coal mines now operating. They are estimated to increase annual production by 40 per cent or more.

"State government has an important role to play in eliminating bureaucratic delays, environmental and safety risks, transportation difficulties, and skilled manpower shortages."

To increase coal production and use, Howlett proposed eight steps, including:

Accelerated research and development of systems to enable Illinois high-sulphur coal to be burned without harming air quality.

Mobilizing the resources of Illinois industry and universities so scientists can assist in improving related technology and more mine engineers and mechanics can be trained.

Cutting red tape to ensure that environmental and mine workers' safety programs are implemented promptly.

Exploring the possibility of partially easing environmental standards where there is no danger of threat to human life or health to permit burning of Illinois coal, but guaranteeing that strip mined lands are restored to their proper condition.

A state plan to conserve 5 per cent or more of the expected 1980 level of energy consumption and across-the-board conservation in each sector of the Illinois economy.

A public education program in schools and advertising to stress energy conservation.

State guidelines for conservation, lighting standards, building insulation, and government procurement.

An energy conservation model building code for local governments.

Use of government and industry computers to aid in car pooling and public transit.

Improved waste treatment to recover energy.

"We must conserve if we are to avoid future economic disaster," said Howlett. "If we have a cold winter, natural gas curtailments may force consumers to lower thermostats."

Howlett's proposals to develop alternate sources included increased use of Illinois coal in systems to produce synthetic oil and gas, consolidation of procedures to enable "one-step power plant siting," demonstration programs for solar energy, and development of nuclear energy in a manner which ensures public safety and respect for the environment.

"By proceeding on each of these fronts," said Howlett, "we can not only help solve the nation's energy crisis, we can use coal to fire the engines of our own economic progress."

"Energy development can give us more jobs at a time when 360,000 Illinois workers are jobless, more business in mining areas, lower cost energy for consumers, and more revenue for state and local governments to avoid tax increases."

Howlett said the energy plan could be a bold step forward for Illinois.

He announced the appointment of J. Cordell Moore of Springfield, an attorney, energy consultant and former U.S. Interior Department official, as chairman of his energy Advisory Committee.

Illinoisans rate high with Ripon Society

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Reports that progressives "expired" at the Republican national convention in Kansas City were grossly exaggerated, says the Ripon Society in a Congressional poll placing Illinois Sen. Charles H. Percy at the top and Congressman John B. Anderson not far behind.

The national society of moderate-to-liberal young Republicans also rated other members of the Illinois delegation high in its analysis of the voting record of the 94th Congress.

Ripon, in the current issue of its magazine, Ripon Forum, says its analysis reveals an "emerging Republican coalition," contrary to the death knell sounded for progressives by "numerous political commentators" at Kansas City.

In fact, says Ripon, progressives displayed a remarkable affinity for melding with their more conservative colleagues on issues of the 94th Congress during the Ford administration.

"In the long term," contends the Society, "it is these individuals, rather than a shrill minority of ideologues disproportionately represented at national conventions, who are likely to shape the Republican party of the future."

Ripon ratings on issues before both sessions of Congress put weight on civil liberties, free markets, Congressional reform and "responsible" internationalism.

The Republican research and policy organization, of course, found Republicans scoring highest.

The Republican average in the Senate was 72 per cent against the Democrats' 48.

House Republicans averaged 68 Democrats, 47

Percy was among four senators scoring 100 per cent. The others were Lowell Weicker of Connecticut, Charles Mathias of Maryland and Robert Packwood of Oregon.

Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Hiram Fong of Hawaii were bracketed next at 94 and 93.

John Anderson of Rockford, Illinois, ranked second in the House at 94 with J. W. Stanton and Clarence Brown Jr. of Ohio and Paul McCloskey of California.

Only Barber Conable of New York and Pierre Du Pont of Delaware received perfect house scores.

Among "top finishers" in the House, Ripon also included four Illinoisans: Minority Leader Robert H. Michel, John N. Erlenbom and Paul Findley, at 88 per cent, and Edward R. Madigan, 87 per cent.

All other Illinois Republicans, except Philip M. Crane at 50, also scored above their party's House average of 68: Robert McClory, 82; Edward J. Derwinski and Henry J. Hyde, 78; Thomas F. Hallback, 73; and George M. O'Brien, 72.

Ripon scores for Illinois Democrats were: Abner J. Mikva, 65; Sidney R. Yates, 59; Tim L. Hall, 56; Cardiss Collins and Paul Simon, 53; Ralph H. Metcalfe, 50; Martin A. Russo, 44; John G. Fary, 36; George E. Shipley, 35; Melvin Price, 33; Morgan F. Murphy and Dan Rostenkowski, 31; and Frank Annunzio, 19.

Ripon noted "surprisingly high" scores among some conservative Republicans, pointing out that Republican vice-presidential candidate Robert Dole got a 67 per cent rating in the Senate against Democratic vice-presidential candidate Walter Mondale's 47.

Crawford enrolls in institute

Forest Crawford, 2423 Edison Ave., has enrolled as a freshman at Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago.

IIT, a nationally prominent coeducational university, prepares students for professional careers in the physical, social and biological sciences, design, management and finance, engineering, law and architecture.

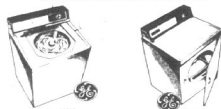

Inventions by IIT faculty and graduates include the first radio telescope, movable windshield wiper, modern magnetic tape recorder, teletype, and the modern formula for concrete mix, a spokesman said.

Starting salaries for IIT graduates presently average $12,000 a year. IIT's 11:1 student-faculty ratio is one of the lowest in the nation, an official noted.
